

Calles Backs Mexican Land and Oil Laws

Executive Promises to Initiate Measures to Modify Them, However, If Occasion Demands.

RELIGIOUS LAWS ARE SUPPORTED

Calles Tells Congress Enforcement Was Made Necessary by Action of Catholic Leader.

Mexico City, September 1.—Foreign suggestions and enforcement of Mexican laws, President Calles asserted Wednesday in an address opening the thirty-second session of the Mexican congress.

The president's reference was general, no specific law or government being mentioned.

Referring to the religious controversy, the president defended the government's stand.

"The palpitating question which has aroused interest in foreign countries out of all proportion to what has been done in our own has been created by the clergy who have always been rebellious against the institutions of the republic," he said. "They have seized a moment which they thought propitious for their ends and disavowed the constitution."

Scores Catholic Stand.

He declared there was nothing novel in the religious laws which, he said, were based on the constitution. Calles said it was necessary to intensify enforcement of these laws on account of the declaration of a Catholic figure "prominent in the hierarchy of the Catholic church who deliberately refused to recognize parts of the constitution referring to religious worship and called on his followers and congregations to renounce and disobey the fundamental law."

This statement referred to the April declarations of Archbishop Mora in which he interpreted the religious laws as being unconstitutional.

President Calles maintained he did not intend to persecute any individuals of any religious beliefs, his action being merely to repress anti-social and anti-judicial acts of a group of so-called spiritual leaders who were openly disavowing the laws of the state under the pretext they were unwarranted.

The people were supporting his stand, Calles said.

Calles pointed out that the nation had enjoyed tranquility and progress and emphasized that the government had made every effort to secure compliance with the constitutional laws so that "the Mexican nation shall command the respect and credit in the eyes of the rest of the world which it deserves."

Justifies Oil Laws.

With respect to the country's foreign relations, he justified the passage of oil, land and other laws which

Screen Star To Be Buried In Hollywood

Brother Arrives From Italy and Directs That Body Be Shipped.

New York, September 1.—(AP)—Hollywood, where Rudolph Valentino rose to world-wide fame as the screen's foremost lover, will be his final resting place.

Definite announcement that burial would be made in the California city came tonight on the arrival of the Honorable the late star's brother, Alberto Guglielmi, from Italy. All arrangements for the transcontinental journey have been completed by S. George Ullman, the late actor's manager, and the body will be started on its way west tomorrow evening.

Two special cars have been engaged to take the body to Hollywood, leaving New York at 6:30 p. m. At Chicago, the cars will be switched to the Southern Pacific route to complete the journey to the coast.

Guglielmi at first seemed to be undecided as to the place of interment, but after a 45-minute consultation in his state room with Mr. Ullman, he made the announcement that his brother's body would be taken to Hollywood.

"Having received the consent of my sister to act for her in respect to the place of burial," he said, "and after consulting with Mr. Ullman, I decided to give to the American people my dearest possession, the body of my brother."

"It was because it was indicated to me so clearly that all America loves and wants him, and also because of the affection of the Italian-American people as well as of all his American friends that made me resolve to do this. We will proceed to Hollywood as arranged tomorrow."

Pola Negri met Guglielmi on the pier, kissed him three times and burst into tears.

"Yes I think he was engaged to Pola Negri," said Guglielmi, "but my brother did not tell me everything about it. Certainly, they loved each other very much."

Spain Is Refused Permanent Place In League Council

COURT OF NATIONS VOTES FAVORABLY ON RESERVATION

Three Provisions and First Half of Fifth Approved by International Conference.

ACTION ON FOURTH RESERVED FOR TIME

Last Half of Fifth Reservation Proves Stumbling Block—Conference Resumed Today.

BY HENRY WOOD.

Geneva, September 1.—All speed records for international conferences were broken Wednesday by the 38 world court signatories considering the United States senate's court reservations.

It required but two short sessions to accept the first three reservations on the first reading, to take the fourth under favorable consideration, and to accept the first half of the fifth.

Then the conference adjourned until Thursday to consider the last half of the fifth—the stumbling block which must be surmounted before the American reservations are acceptable in their entirety.

Action on the fourth reservation was held up pending the establishment of certain international legal points.

Comment Is Favorable.

Comment in the league lobbies reflects a favorable attitude toward the reservations.

Everyone here was surprised that not a single dissenting voice was raised against the reservations considered thus far.

The only discussion which might have been interpreted as unfavorable had to do with efforts to make the world court's organization harmonize with the American reservations.

It was the universal feeling that the United States should be brought into the world court at all cost. This attitude minimized the objection that the court is intimately connected with the League of Nations and that admission of the United States to the court would introduce an outside element.

Article 5 of the United States reservations states:

"That the court shall not render any advisory opinion except publicly after due notice to all states adhering to the court and to all interested states, and after public hearings or hearings given to any state concerned; nor shall it without the consent of the United States entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question which the United States has or claims interest."

The crux of the situation lies in the statement beyond the semicolon; if this is acceptable to the signatories, then it is freely admitted that the reservations will be acceptable.

In considering the article, Professor Van Eysinga, of Holland, president of the conference, pointed out that the

MERGER PLANNED BY G. L. MILLER

Company Is Liquidating To a Large Extent, According to New York Newspapers.

New York, September 1.—(AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune says that G. L. Miller & Co., dealers in real estate mortgage bonds, is retrenching and liquidating to a large extent with a view to amalgamation with other interests, which will assume its obligations.

The paper says one or more of the largest real estate bond houses in the city is considering assisting Miller & Co. if its affairs can be so rearranged that its business can be taken over without sacrifice.

The Pennsylvania license of the company was revoked recently by the bureau of securities at Harrisburg, and its affairs are now under the scrutiny of the New York attorney general's bureau of frauds, the paper says.

The Miller company is understood to have approximately 21,000 customers and 150 bonds. These bonds are said to total about $500,000,000.

G. L. Miller & Co., of New York, for several years maintained branch offices in Atlanta, and engaged in a general bond business here. Recently the office force here was transferred to New York, only a representative of the concern remaining.

Hopes of Obtaining Satisfaction Definitely Lost as Result of Defection of France and Italy.

SPAIN MAY LEAVE LEAGUE AS RESULT

Reconstruction Scheme Provides for Nine Temporary Seats, Instead of Six As At Present.

Geneva, Switzerland, September 1.—(AP)—By declining to endorse Spain's demand for a permanent seat in the League of Nations council and by adopting the Franco-British draft scheme for the council's reorganization, the commission charged with the task of revamping the structure of the council terminated tonight its labors begun last May.

Although the Spanish delegate, Senor Palacios, received multiple tributes on his country's contributions to the work of the league and on Spain's role throughout Europe's history, the impression in Geneva, reinforced by reports from the Spanish frontier, is that Spain will not be satisfied with these semi-permanent seat arrangements envisaged by the Cecil-Fromageot organization scheme.

Spain May Quit.

It is further thought in some quarters that having failed to obtain the commission's support for a permanent chair, Spain will not send delegates to the forthcoming council or assembly.

The substance of the remarks of all the delegates was that Germany alone could be attributed a permanent seat at this session and they hoped Spain and also Poland and China, would accept the semi-permanent arrangement and defer pressing their claims for permanent representation on the council.

Senor Cantile, of Argentina, made an eloquent personal plea to Senor Palacios saying: "We think we show the Spanish blood in our veins if we sacrifice principles we believe to be based on grounds of reason and justice."

Dr. Guani, of Uruguay, said that although Latin-America had great sympathy for the league, the motives of principle kept it from supporting Spain's pretensions.

Spain's Hope Lost.

The defection of France and Italy, expressed by M. Fromageot and Senor Scialoja, respectively, indicated that Spain's hope of obtaining satisfaction was definitely lost.

The commission will meet again tomorrow evening to adopt Dr. Motta's report to the council, in which the viewpoint of Spain, Poland and China will be incorporated.

The reconstruction scheme provides for nine temporary seats instead of six as at present. Three of these will be allotted to Latin America. The permanent seats are held by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, the fifth to go to Germany when she enters the league.

By the new plan, Spain and Poland each will get a temporary seat for three years and they may be declared permanent by the league assembly, thus providing for a possible permanency for these countries.

Police Board Office Flooded With Applications.

Everybody wants to be a policeman. At least such is the sentiment of members of the police board.

Just what the big idea is in getting on the police force has not been fathomed, but there are now more than 1,000 applications for a place on the force. This, and with new ones coming in every day, keep members of the board "jumping from Jerusalem to Jericho."

So acute has the situation become that it has become necessary to shut down on applications, and notice was served Wednesday night at a meeting of that body "until vacancies are made" that no more applications will be considered.

DAWES CONTINUES EFFORT TO RAISE SCORE WITH ROD

Chicago, September 1.—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes plans to further his fishing achievements by a week-end trip to Coleman, Wis.

His recent trout score at Wagon Wheel Gap, Colo., never has been made public.

General Dawes will be accompanied by his brother, Rufus C. Dawes, and Theodore W. Robinson, vice president of the Illinois Steel company. They will return Tuesday.

COOLIDGE IS TOLD OF CATHOLIC VIEW ON MEXICAN FIGHT

President Coolidge Hears Arguments Presented for Knights of Columbus by James Flaherty.

INTERVENTION NOT WANTED BY CHURCH

Coolidge Apparently Pleased as Policy of 'Sitting Tight' Weathers Mexican Religious Storm

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

P. J. Maguire, N. Y., September 1.—President Coolidge has been safely through the snarl that arose with the Mexican religious controversy.

Officials of the Knights of Columbus, representing 750,000 American Catholics, came to Paul Smith's on Wednesday and told the president that they do not ask the president to intervene in Mexico, withdraw recognition, or even lift the embargo on arms. They presented no data on abuses to American citizens.

"We do not ask that the government should not give support, sympathy or aid to Calles, we ask sympathy or aid in any way possible within the bounds of international law," said James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the order, after he had seen the president.

He and his staff of officers came out of the executive offices after their brief conference and took a train shortly before noon without remaining to lunch or visit the camp home of the president, a short distance from working quarters.

Troubles Are Ended.

Thus ended the most troublesome phase of the Mexican religious crisis so far as the American government is concerned and the president rode off to lunch, recording no most in his mental handbook on politics, another credit for the form of strategy known in some circles as "sitting tight" and formerly as "watchful waiting."

His Mexican policy has been highly pleasing to practically all American Mexicans. No more of the most influential groups of Catholics have no specific objections to make.

Flaherty's visit resulted from the resolution adopted by the knights at their Philadelphia convention in August. This convention took place just after the speakers branded the remarks of their opponents as "cheap politics," took place. For a time it seemed that an old-time "knock-down and drag-out" would be the first volley, when he charged that power company officials had made conflicting statements in matters pertaining to the company, and that the telephone rates are "higher here than in almost any other city in the entire country and the service poorer."

Ragsdale's Record Assailed.

He also assailed Walter C. Taylor, a "czar of Atlanta politics," and declared that he will do his best to remove him from office if he is elected.

Robert A. Gordon, another sealer of the same post, assailed I. N. Ragsdale's record as a county commissioner, and when he was interrupted by Mr. Ragsdale and questioned concerning this the speaker retorted by saying that "Ragsdale should have told the people who elected him that place under some tension. Flaherty had little to say afterward except that the Philadelphia resolutions had been misinterpreted."

A few days ago he sought a conference with the president. As for the United States last night, Flaherty desired to set the president aright regarding the position of the Knights of Columbus and stop criticism arising from misinterpretations of its position.

"The president listened to my sympathetically," Flaherty said after his conference. "We wanted to make clear to him and the public that the Knights of Columbus does not ask intervention in Mexico. It asks sympathy and comfort, the bolshevik forces of Carranza, Obregon and Calles."

Kellogg Meeting Held.

Flaherty then attempted to lay his resolution before Coolidge but was referred to Secretary of State Kellogg. There was outward evidence that the people who elected him took place under some tension. Flaherty had little to say afterward except that the Philadelphia resolutions had been misinterpreted."

Bread and Water Sentences For Tigers Cause Uproar

PUNISHMENT IS DEFENDED BY JUDGE

Tekamah, Neb., September 1.—County Judge Orville Chitt, who has come into national prominence by imposing bread and water sentences on Nebraska bootleggers, believes that only the most drastic measures will curb liquor law violators.

"Bootleggers are a bad lot, the worst type of criminal we have to deal with, and I believe it is the duty of judges to give them the punishment the law allows," Chitt said in an interview.

The public uproar which followed Judge Chitt's announcement that Thomas Nelson and Ray Carson would have to serve 40 days in jail on a diet of bread and water for procuring liquor for a state "dry" agent who posed as a tippler, is altogether unrecalled for, the judge said. He revealed that he had been imposing restricted diet sentences on convicted bootleggers in Butte county for more than a year.

"This is the first time I have given anyone as long a term as 40 days," he said, explaining that he believed the penalty was warranted by the increase of violators. "Usually I sentence them to only five or ten days. That is my prerogative under the constitution and I have been upheld by the state supreme court."

Nelson and Carson, both farmers, served seven days of their bread and water sentence a year ago before obtaining habeas corpus writs for an appeal to the supreme court. On the basis of that experience they don't believe they will survive the two 20-day diets, which are to be separated by 20 days of regular prison fare.

"I don't see how I'll stand it, but I guess I'll have to," Nelson said, when he learned that he would have to begin serving his sentence within a few days. "After seven days of bread and water a year ago, we were so sick that we felt like dying. Every night we'd dream of beef steaks and chops and then when we'd wake up it would be all the worse."

FIGHT THREATENS AT SECOND WARD POLITICAL RALLY

Congressional and Mayoralty Candidates Hold Spotlight as Charges Fly Back and Forth.

Mayoralty and Congressional Candidates Take Spotlight in Second Ward Gathering.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Vicious attacks on the Georgia Railway & Power Co., the Southern Bell Telephone company, and a medley of charges and counter charges of 25 aspirants for offices in district, county and city primaries featured a political rally Wednesday night in the second ward at which for the first time in the current campaign the lid was literally blown off the "pot."

A larger number of candidates appeared at the session than at any previous rally held in this political season. Clarence Wood, nephew of J. O. Wood, candidate for governor, presided and spoke in behalf of his uncle's candidacy.

The spot light Wednesday was occupied by mayoralty and congressional races, and heated verbal tilts in which speakers branded the remarks of their opponents as "cheap politics," took place. For a time it seemed that an old-time "knock-down and drag-out" would be the first volley, when he charged that power company officials had made conflicting statements in matters pertaining to the company, and that the telephone rates are "higher here than in almost any other city in the entire country and the service poorer."

CORDELE JUDGE TURNS DOWN FEE OF BANK AUDITORS

Federal Charges of Using Mails to Defraud Seen as Grand Jury Probe Starts.

ANSWER FILED TO BANKRUPTCY SUIT

Judge Powell Claims Bank Failures Striped Client of Everything He Owned.

Lying on a bed in Piedmont sanatorium, where he was carried last Friday following a nervous collapse after testifying in bankruptcy court earlier in the day, W. D. Manley, president of the defunct Bankers' Trust company Wednesday afternoon was served with bench warrants charging larceny after trust. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, Wednesday morning, refused to reduce bonds totaling $100,000 assessed on eight larceny after trust indictments returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury against the banker.

During the afternoon, John M. McCollough, W. D. Manley, Hunter Cooper and Lamar Rankin, of Tampa, Fla., friends and relatives of the financier, appeared at the office of James I. Lowry, Fulton county sheriff, and signed bonds as security for Manley's appearance in Fulton superior court. The bonds were carried to the hospital with the bench warrants and were signed by Manley.

Jointly indicted with Manley in connection with alleged conversion of funds of banks affiliated with the Bankers' Trust company chain were L. R. Adams, secretary; Paul J. Baker, treasurer; John D. Russell, assistant secretary, and J. A. Sasser, vice president of the defunct company. The bond of Adams was fixed at $20,000 and was signed Wednesday afternoon by A. G. Smith, Atlanta realtor with offices in the Palmer building. Dr. L. P. Baker, a brother of Paul J. Baker, signed as security for the bank treasurer on a bond of $10,000. The $10,000 bond fixed for Russell was signed jointly by S. R. Jacobs, Atlanta realtor, and George P. Donaldson, Buckhead capitalist. S. R. Jacobs made bond for Mr. Sasser in the sum of $20,000.

Deputy Sheriff W. M. Mayo served the warrants and witnessed the signature of Manley at the hospital. He was accompanied to the hospital by Dr. W. V. Young, who is attending Mrs. Manley. Judge Arthur G. Powell, of Manley's counsel.

Due to the fact that Mr. Rankin, who signed $50,000 in bonds for Manley's appearance at trial in Fulton superior court.

POWER COMPANY GETS ROME PLANT

Control of Rome System Acquired in General Scheme To Merge Public Utilities.

Acquisition of the Rome Railway & Light Co. by the Southeastern Power & Light Co. was announced here Wednesday. The announcement was made by P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway & Power company, and the new consolidation became effective September 1.

The effect of the acquisition of the Rome company is to extend the merger of public utility properties in Georgia, which has been in progress since the first of the year and which has already brought into one system controlled by the Southeastern Power & Light Co. 40 cities and towns, including Atlanta, Macon, Athens, Brunswick, Milledgeville, Dublin and others.

Addition of the Rome company to the system was through acquisition of a majority of the outstanding common and preferred stock. Like the other affiliated Southeastern properties in Georgia, the Rome company will be operated under the supervision of the Georgia Railway & Power company. The new property was acquired in the name of the Georgia Utilities company, a subsidiary of which Mr. Arkwright is president.

The Rome company will continue to operate under its present name and with the same officials in charge as at present, it was stated.

The Rome company now operates

GEORGE OPPOSES DEBT REVISIONS

United States Senator Walter F. George is opposed to a proposal made by Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, that debts due the United States by European nations be lowered, or canceled, he declared in an interview made public Wednesday.

Senator George spent several hours at his campaign headquarters here and was greeted by a large number of friends who gave him assurances that he would be returned to the senate by a decisive and convincing majority.

Senator George said he had opposed in the senate both the Italian and Belgian debt settlements and was opposed to any downward revisions or cancellations of the debts thus far funded.

In outlining his views Senator George said:

"The total bonded indebtedness of the United States is $20,000,000,000. The allied nations owe us about $12,000,000,000. The American people are now paying almost $1,000,000,000 a year interest. If the debts due us were paid we should be able to save to our taxpayers more than $500,000,000 a year in interest alone. The debts due us represent in large part money actually furnished out of our treasury after the armistice. Cancellation of these debts can be justified upon only one of two grounds: first, that the nations indebted to us were from the beginning fighting our war; or second, that these nations are absolutely unable to repay the money actually advanced to them. I am unwilling to admit and unwilling to assume responsibility for the beginning of the war and it has not been demonstrated that the nations indebted to us are actually unable to repay the loans due in reality to the American taxpayer."

Comments on Meeting.

Commenting upon the conference of the leading nations, members of the world court, at Geneva, the senator stated that it is important to remember that the United States is not a member of the world court, and that the senate has merely stated the conditions upon which we are willing to support the court.

"One of these conditions," the senator pointed out, "is that each of the 48 nations now members of the court shall consent to the conditions set forth by the senate. The fifth condition provides that no question in which the United States is interested can be considered by the court unless authorized by treaty, which, of course, requires the joint consent of the president and two-thirds of the senate. The sixth condition is that the constitution of the United States, and that no advisory opinion touching any dis-

Manager and Clerk Of A. and P. Store. Held in Burglary Title Contest

G. A. Lierly, manager of the A. & P. store at 6 East DeKalb avenue, and his clerk, F. C. Knight, were held on burglary charges for the DeKalb county grand jury by Recorder A. W. Callaway Wednesday morning. Lierly's bond was fixed at $1,500, while the youthful clerk, Knight, who confessed to his part in the robbery, was given bond in the sum of $1,000.

According to the officers, Knight confessed that he and Lierly entered the store at about 10:25, and then robbed it of about $225, and then visited another A. & P. store at 1901 Boulevard drive, robbing it also. Knight, according to the officers, claims that Lierly is responsible for the plot. Lierly protested his innocence.

pute or question in which the United States has or claims an interest can be given by the court unless the court be authorized by the United States to consider the question.

"It is perfectly clear that the acceptance of this condition will make the Monroe Doctrine international law and that was one of the main purposes in the mind of the senate at the time this condition was agreed upon and passed."

"One thing may be certainly stated," the senator will not modify in any respect the conditions upon which the United States is authorized to give its support to the court; also there will be no conference by any representative of the United States with any member of the court concerning the meaning of these conditions. The conditions are perfectly plain and every right and interest of the United States is protected—and many democratic senators regarded these conditions as important and they had no objection to the conditions as finally agreed upon by the senate."

Open to All Dixie Fiddlers

Challenges to every fiddler in Dixie to compete for the championship of Georgia and the south Wednesday were buried in the very fiddlestrings of these virtuosi when the executive committee of the Georgia Old Time Fiddlers' association met at the auditorium and made plans for its twelfth annual convention.

"This contest will be held Friday and Saturday, September 17 and 18," Professor Aleck Smart, chairman of the executive committee and master of ceremonies, announced. "The time is short, but these are the only dates on which we could engage the Atlanta auditorium."

Every time we have had a Georgia fiddlers' convention for the last 11 years some fiddler from North Carolina or Tennessee has turned up and wouldn't let him try for the prizes he went home and bragged that we Georgia fiddlers were afraid of him. We're going to show them this year."

Entry blanks for the championship contest will be sent out at once by the Georgia Old Time Fiddlers' association to every country fiddler of whom there is record. All others who wish to compete for the championship and cash prizes are invited to send their entries at once to Virgil W. Shepard, 87 Courtland street, Atlanta.

NEW FULTON DISTRICT IS ORDERED MAPPED

The Fulton county surveyor Wednesday afternoon was ordered by the Fulton county commission at its regular monthly session to make an atlas of Grogan's district, the new territory annexed recently to Fulton county from Milton county, which is said to consist of between 6,000 and 7,000 acres.

Action was taken following a request from Frank F. Smith, tax investigator of Fulton county, who "found a check had been made and that this showed that only approximately 4,000 acres could be accounted for. This was due to the fact that several of the land lots were said to have been surveyed short, while in others too many acres were found."

The land, before being taken into Fulton county, was located between the Fulton county line and the Chattahoochee river. When the territory was annexed the Fulton and Milton county line was changed to the Chattahoochee river.

Announcement was made at the commission meeting that a called meeting of the board would be held at 2:30 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the fixing of the tax rate for 1927, and in making a comprehensive study of the affairs of the county before final action will be taken.

The commission voted to pave Oakdale road from Wieca road to Danwoody road, at the request of a large delegation of prominent citizens who appeared before the commission with a petition signed by the property owners.

Herbert Haas, Atlanta attorney, requested the commission to allow the property owners in Morningstar Park to turn in their taxes separately instead of in a lump sum as was done during the past year. This request was referred to the Fulton county tax assessors for report.

C. S. Johnson, for the past year a member of the board of examiners and stationary engineers of the county, was re-elected Wednesday for another year by the commission.

Several delegations of citizens appeared before the commission with requests for county aid in constructing and repairing roads in the county. Other routine matters were transacted.

Thieves' Syndicate Held Responsible For Two Burglaries

Clues as to the existence of a syndicate of burglars operating with skeleton or pass keys were found Wednesday by detectives assigned to investigate the robbery of gasoline filling stations located at 46 Spring street and at Boulevard and Ponce de Leon avenues.

The safes in both stations were opened and a total sum of $171.76 taken, the burglary being discovered by the manager. Entrance to both stations was gained by means of a pass key. Doors and windows were found intact when examined every hour by the policemen.

Captain M. J. Wright, of the bureau of identification, was asked to photograph fingerprints in an effort to establish the identity of the bandits. W. S. Green, of 91 East Fair street, reported that thieves visited his home and took $30.

GORDY CLUB DENIES HE IS AGAINST POLICE, FIREMEN

Alleged reports that J. F. Gordy, candidate for legislature, was opposing the best interests of the firemen and policemen were denied in a statement issued Wednesday by the executive committee of the J. F. Gordy For Legislature club.

Daily meetings are being held by the club to forward the candidacy of Mr. Gordy. Mrs. R. L. Reddingfield is chairman of the women's committee.

REDUCED RATES TO ATLANTA FAIR TO BE GRANTED

Special railroad rates of one and one-half fare for the round trip have been granted by the railroads to Atlanta for the entire eight days of the Southeastern fair this year, from October 2 to 9, tickets being sold at the low rate running October 1 and good until October 11.

Announcement of the special rates was made following a conference of the general passenger agents of all railroads running into Atlanta, held at the offices of the fair association Monday with Oscar Mills, secretary-manager of the fair association.

Plans were also laid at the conference for a special one-day excursion during the fair at half the regular rate, to be run from all points in the southeast. The date of the excursion is to be settled definitely later.

Want Ad Gets Results From Long Distance

Claims for the "long distance championship" for getting results from advertising are claimed in his own behalf by James L. Logan, veteran Atlanta real estate and investment man and by him for The Constitution as a medium.

Recently Mr. Logan inserted in the classified section of The Constitution an advertisement offering for sale some 200,000 acres of timber land in North Carolina. A copy of The Constitution containing the advertisement found its way to Belize, in British Honduras, according to Mr. Logan and as a result he received a letter from a citizen of that place asking Mr. Logan to handle for him a tract of 182,000 acres of hardwood timberland in that country. The Honduras tract is one of the largest ever offered for sale as it contains 35 miles of sea front.

"I have been advertising in The Constitution for 28 years and it is simply wonderful to trace the long distance effect of publicity through your valuable paper," Mr. Logan said.

122D OFFICERS' ENJOY PROGRAM BY MUSICAL STARS

Musical selections featured Wednesday's regular luncheon of officers of the 122d infantry, Miss Lillian McDonald, popular local soprano, offering several selections, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Mrs. Lazenby.

The luncheon was in the Rainbow room of the Ansley hotel and more than 30 officers were present. Special guests included Major General E. J. Williams, Colonel J. M. Kimbrough, senior instructor for the Georgia national guard, and others. Adjutant General Charles H. Cox, presided.

NEW TRIAL GIVEN PASTOR CHARGED WITH PROFANITY

Nashville, Tenn., September 1.—Holding that expulsion from the ministry was a penalty too severe for a minister who might have been profane, the appeals board of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today granted the Rev. E. W. Wyatt a new trial. Wyatt, a Methodist minister, who recently was charged with immorality, was expelled from the ministry and church membership. Charges of immorality included use of profanity and misappropriation of funds. The board did not sustain the latter charge, but did sustain that of profanity.

I. H. GILBERT DIES AT FAMILY HOME

I. H. Gilbert, 79, of 115 Georgia avenue, for 15 years night watchman at the Fulton county courthouse, died Tuesday night at the residence.

Mr. Gilbert was born in Georgia and lived in Atlanta for 38 years. He made a distinguished war record, serving in the first Georgia regiment in the civil war. He was an active church worker and a member of Turner Baptist church in Clayton county.

Beside his wife, Mr. Gilbert is survived by three sons, J. L. Gilbert, of San Antonio; W. M. Gilbert, of Mount Enterprise, Texas, and J. W. Gilbert, of Atlanta; five daughters, Mrs. F. E. Edwards, Mrs. E. L. Adamson, Mrs. J. H. Williamson, of Ellenwood, Ga., and Misses Katie May and Vennie Lou Gilbert, and two brothers, L. Z. Gilbert, of Jonesboro, and H. E. Gilbert, of Morrow, Ga.

Arrangements for the funeral to be held Friday will be made when relatives from Texas have arrived. Greenberg & Bond, funeral directors, in charge.

Atlanta Secures Services Of Community Chest 'Doctor' For Its Annual Campaign

Harry P. Warheim, of Rochester, Will Direct Drive To Begin October 28.

October 22 to November 1, for the fourth annual appeal of the Atlanta Community Chest, preparations are well under way at chest headquarters for the drive. Campaign committees will be announced in a few days and President W. Bayne Gibson is authority for the statement that arrangements for the campaign this year will be so thorough and the details of organization so complete, the goal will be attained within the days specified. "We are particularly fortunate," Mr. Gibson said, "in having secured through the courtesy of the board of directors of the Rochester Community Chest, the loan of their manager, Harry P. Warheim, who is unquestionably the foremost campaigner of America in the field of social service. The Rochester plan of campaign developed by Mr. Warheim has been adopted in successful chest drives throughout the country."

"Mr. Warheim may be called a community chest doctor, for he has not only raised more than a million and a quarter each year in Rochester during the past nine years, but has reorganized the campaigns in several of the country's largest cities where the chests had failed and were almost at the point of being abandoned. "The community chest board of directors recognized that, having failed to attain our goal last year by nearly one-fourth and the work of our agencies having been seriously crippled, we needed the advice and assistance of the most expert chest man in the country. We canvassed the situation thoroughly, but found that there was but one recognized outstanding authority, a man who in chest circles is known as the community chest wizard. We were able to borrow him from the Rochester chest and as a result of his experience in 16 successful campaigns, he assures us that the total cost of the entire campaign this year will not be more than $26,000, the cost of the campaign last fall."

"Mr. Warheim arrived in Atlanta on Monday. He does not bring an extensive staff with him, but depends entirely upon the chest organization and community forces to do the job. He is here merely to see that we follow the right principles and make no mistakes."

County Political Races Wax Warm As Election Nears

Candidates for political plums in district, county and city races Wednesday night settled down on the home stretch, with a series of gatherings scheduled in order that they may discuss their platforms.

All candidates who failed to speak at the meeting sponsored several days ago by the third ward delegation in council have been invited to appear at another meeting to begin at 8 o'clock tonight at Grant park. Cold melons will be served following the meeting.

Alderman William B. Hartfield and Councilmen Ben T. Huie and Charles Chosewood are promulgators of the affair.

On Friday night two rallies have been planned, one at Crew Street school beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and another at Hemphill avenue and Tenth street by friends of J. E. Bowden, candidate for council from the fifth.

The Crew school meeting is being sponsored by the Southside Civic league and while no candidates have been asked to speak, anyone who knows anything "good, bad or indifferent about any of the candidates" will be given an opportunity to tell the audience, Mrs. J. E. Andrews stated.

This will be the first of a series of such meetings to be held in different sections of the city.

All candidates have been asked to address a meeting of 11th ward voters on the lawn of the Whiteford Avenue Baptist church at 8 o'clock Monday night. Women of the church have prepared a chicken supper which will be served prior to the speaking.

MORTON ARRIVES FOR FASHION SHOW

Lewis J. Morton returned to Atlanta Wednesday to begin rehearsals for the fashion revue which M. Rich & Bros. Co. will present in the city auditorium Tuesday night, September 14, bringing with him a shipment of gorgeous stage settings. Black velvet, cloth of gold, iridescent tulle, rare draperies and rich accessories are included in the shipment.

"The creations which M. Rich & Bros. have furnished for the fashion revue call for the most beautiful background that scenic artists and stage craftsmen can provide," said Mr. Morton, "and I searched New York for drops and sets that would be worthy of the occasion. I have never seen anything more beautiful than the three big sets we will have for the fashion revue."

As soon as he stepped off the train Wednesday he began telephoning principals for a conference and today he will begin rehearsing several units.

Atlanta Complimented. Mr. Morton, who is widely and favorably known for his masterly staging of the municipal light opera offering during the past two seasons, came back to stage the fashion revue in behalf of Tallulah Falls Industrial school and in compliment to Mrs. John K. Ottley for whom the $30,000 scholarship endowment unit now being raised will be named.

With M. Rich & Bros. Co. sponsoring the event, furnishing the frocks and gowns and furs and wraps that will go into the style parade, and defraying all other expenses of the production, leaders in the movement are confident that receipts from the fashion revue should reach the $5,000 mark and the gross will come intact to the Passie Fenton Ottley scholarship endowment fund.

Stars Will Appear.

Young Stribling, Georgia's own star of the roped arena, will stage a three-round bout with Benny Touchstone; Alisie Conant Hudson, charming musical monologist who headlined on the Keith circuit for five years, will appear in a delightful pianologue; Tootsie Dunbar, Atlanta's foremost child star, will sing and dance; Adolph Verdi, brilliant pianist of the Metropolitan theater orchestra and the Atlanta Symphony orchestra, will play a group of popular song hits with harmonies, modulations and variations such as only he can devise; Charles Wynn, popular lyric tenor will contribute his talents to the event; Leonard White, premier dancer of the Municipal Light Opera company, will appear in a beautiful dance number; Enrico Leide, conductor of the Metropolitan theater orchestra, leader of Yarnab Temple's Shrine band, and conductor of the Atlanta Symphony orchestra will arrange the musical score for the fashion revue and will personally conduct the orchestra for the show as well as the jazz orchestra which will play the dance in Taft hall immediately following the performance.

With interest growing hourly in the fashion revue and dance the demand for tickets is increasing. Twenty-five chairmen, who are assisting with the ticket sale, are seeking to reach every one who is interested.

Tickets may be had also from Mrs. T. T. Stevens, chairman of the Passie Fenton Ottley scholarship endowment fund, who is maintaining headquarters in the assembly room of M. Rich & Bros. Co. (fourth floor), and from Mrs. Eugene Harrington, chairman of the fashion revue, whose offices are located with Penelope Penn on the balcony (Alabama street entrance of the store).

The same ticket which constitutes admission to the fashion revue, likewise carries a coupon which admits the holder to the dance that will be staged in Taft hall immediately following the performance.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DRYS TO OPPOSE SENATOR MOSES

Manchester, N. H., September 1.—The drys of New Hampshire announced Wednesday they would support ex-Governor Bass in the republican senatorial primary next Tuesday, opposing the present senator, George H. Moses.

They oppose Moses because, they say, he has a record part wet and part dry, has thus far in the campaign made no statement endorsing prohibition, has received a contribution from Ralph B. Strassburger, of Pennsylvania, who supported William S. Vare in the Pennsylvania primary, and has referred to the Volstead act as "a jackass law."

How to Get Rid of Colds and Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold. They realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, was the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no chemicals, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, catarrhal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

If you suffer from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, irritations, or, if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy. Get one of the pocket size packages from any drug store and prove for yourself the pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

Golden Tornado Holds First Practice of Season

Barron, Tharpe, Pool Among Candidates For Early Workouts

Players Make Good Showing Under Captain in Initial Work—Last Year's Freshmen Also Look Promising in Short Practice Wednesday.

BY C. F. THOMPSON.

The Golden Tornado's stanchions of hope for 1926 football swung out about 60 strong for the season's first practice Wednesday afternoon under the tutelage of Captain Owen Pool. A light workout was the order of the day, the activities comprising about half an hour of punting and passing, calisthenics, medicine ball tossing and a couple of laps around the track.

Today at 3:30 they report for practice again, and for the remainder of the week will be directed by Captain Pool. The coach will then take up the burden, since a conference regulation restrains them from going on the practice field until the training season formally opens September 6.

Varsity Men Back.

Four of the 1925 varsity eleven, a number of last year's letter men and freshmen, who have done promising work that began practice Wednesday.

Captain Pool, center, alternate captain Mack Tharpe, tackle Sam Murray, fullback and Carter Barron, halfback, were the skeleton remains of last year's Tornado that romped on Grant field in the first practice Johnny Marshall, varsity end of 1925, is expected to return within the next few days. He sailed for home from a European trip on August 26.

These men will form the nucleus around which the 1926 Tornado must be constructed. But then Coach W. A. Alexander will not be without material to do his construction work for look at the array of letter men and last year's freshmen he's got to work with.

John Brewer, half, Tom Angley, guard, Raleigh Drennon, guard, "Fido" Martin, guard, Finley McRae, quarter, Sherry Smith, quarter, "Bull" Irwin, end, Bob Parrham, end; Hood, tackle; Ed Crowley, end; Bob Randolph, fullback, Ware Fitzgerald, half.

Brewer, Angley, Martin, Hearn, McRae, Irwin, Hood and Crowley supply a list of last year's letter men who are expected to snap into first class shape for the coming season.

Promising Freshmen.

Then, too, last year's freshmen cannot be overlooked. This is evident in the fact that DeLam, one of last year's flying freshmen, was getting off some mighty good 60-yard punts in the first afternoon's practice.

Add to Parrham's name those of Drennon, (who looked exceptionally good Wednesday after) Smith, and Bob Randolph, who was all-southern prep fullback two years ago when he flew under the banner of Tech High, and you have a list of 1925 "fresh" who promise to achieve no small amount of zirconium fame during the coming months.

Today the men will go through about half an hour of blackboard work, and the same style of light workout that predominated Wednesday's practice. Coach Alexander was on hand Wednesday with his light inspiring smile to welcome the returning and new men and next week he will swing them into regular practice sessions which will probably be pretty heavy, preparatory to the first game of the season with Oglethorpe which is only about three weeks hence.

Niehoffians Lose Opening Game, 3-1

Birmingham, Ala., September 1.—Emilio Enrico Palmero, one of the boys who came to the Barons, two for one style, in the general Alvin Crowder deal, looked like a bargain all by himself at Rickwood field Wednesday afternoon. What Emilio did by his lonesome was to hurl a handsome game of the national pastime and knock off the Atlanta Crackers, 3 to 1, in the homecoming of the Barons after a seventeen-day jaunt over the dusty road.

Bert Niehoff sprang a brand-new one on the Barons and the fans in the slaughter of Doss, acquired, his said, from the Columbus Southeastern league club, and whose first name is shrouded in mystery. Mr. Doss, who throws with his auto-driving hand, didn't exactly get slaughtered, however, despite the fact that he was nicked for ten safeties in seven innings until he went out at a pinch hitter that struck out. The first Baron run came in the initial round, a pair of passes, an infield out and a wild pitch enabling Ted Jourdon to race home.

Ernie Neitzke paved the way then by dropping a slow-looking fly into right field. Niehoff died at second when Palmero rolled to the pitcher. The Baron hurler going safe at first. Doug Baird's single over second and last run of the game. After Joe Schepner had fired out to right field, consecutive singles by Jeanes and Gillis caused the first two sacks to be occupied. Neitzke delivered a one-baser over second and Jeanes counted.

Al Niehoff opened the inning with a single to left and two were on after the Cuban pink Brock, the Atlanta catcher, on a portion of his anatomy. Leo Durocher drew a pass and every bag was burdened with a Cracker. It looked dark for Emilio and Bert Niehoff endeavored to add to the gloom by calling on Tom Rogers, one of his pitchers, to pinch hit for Mr. Ross. Now Tom Rogers may be a pride and joy to Bert as a pitcher, but he should also be an ever-increasing pain as a pinch hitter, for Tom did what the renowned Casey did one day at a moment unsuited for fanning the air with one's bat. With one out, Palmero caused Rod Murphy to fly to Neitzke. Niehoff scored after the catch for the lone run of the flurry, as Niehoff flew out to centerfield to retire the side.

The Charleston girls from the Howard theater, headed by Trinx Jackson, of Atlanta, will be among the attractions at the finals of The Constitution swimming meet at Piedmont park Monday afternoon. The girls will display their Charlestonian accomplishments for the edification of contestants and spectators at the swimming meet to be held under the direction of The Constitution.

The entry list for the gigantic swimming meet to be staged under the auspices of The Constitution at Piedmont park Saturday and Monday is closed with more than 115 contestants ready for the starting whistle on Saturday morning.

The committee will spend today in dividing the entrants into classes and a complete list of starting times for every entry will be printed in Friday morning's Constitution. This printed entry list will constitute official notice to the contestants and they will be expected to appear at the designated times for their events. Owing to the large number of entries and the fact that the eliminations contests are to be run off in one day, it will be necessary to have every entrant on hand when his name is called by the starter. The list will be printed for the purpose of notifying contestants of their starting times and it will be necessary for them to report to the starter before the time of their race or they will be scratched from the event.

Large Prize List.

In addition to the large list of prizes for winners of the various events and the silver trophies to be presented to the high point winners in each class, ribbon trophies will be given to each entrant taking first or second place in the preliminary contests on Saturday. In other words, every man, woman and child who wins a race to compete in the finals on Monday will be presented with a ribbon.

The silver trophies will be on display until Monday in the windows of the George Mose Clothing company. The committee will also devote part of the day today in selecting judges and other officials for the big meet with the view to running off the events in record time. This will be possible only if the entrants cooperate in every way with the officials and are on hand for their events when the starter is ready to start the race. All of the swimming races will be held over the new swimming course and the dive will be from the three-meter board on the tower.

The importance of every entrant watching this newspaper tomorrow to get his starting time is most important. All final details will be printed on Friday morning and if contestants will read the story carefully they will have no trouble in finding their starting time and thus insuring the success of the meet.

Pirates Buy Hill From Indianapolis

St. Louis, September 1.—(AP)—Purchase of Carman Hill, star right handed pitcher from Indianapolis for a "big price" was announced today by the Pittsburgh Pirates. Hill has won 24 and lost five games this season. While declining to reveal the price, officials said money was paid for him by Glen Wright who was obtained from Kansas City for $40,000. Two Pirate players were involved in the deal. Hill will report at Cincinnati tomorrow.

Cardinals Take Final Game of Series From Pirates

St. Louis Retains First Place Berth In National League

Hornsby Clan Takes Last Struggle by 5 to 2 Score—Kremmer is Driven From the Mound by the Cards After a Shower of Hits—Hornsby Clouts Homer.

BY FRANK GETTY.

New York, September 1.—The St. Louis Cardinals have played the last of their home games and Mound City fans will see them no more this year unless Rogers Hornsby's crew brings home the first National League pennant that fanatical baseball town on the Mississippi has ever raised.

In departing, the Cardinals treated a half-parkful of rabid enthusiasts to a 5-to-2 victory over the world's winning champions, one of the most important series of the season, and raising the hopes of St. Louis to the bursting point.

The prospect of St. Louis' first major league pennant appeared brighter after the Pittsburgh series than ever before. Reinhardt joined little Sherdel and Alan Solheim as Pirate batters by turning back the world's champions with but six hits.

With a good record on the road this year, the Cardinals took confidence in winning their first pennant. They look up with the Cubs at Chicago Thursday and then come a really decisive series with Pittsburgh over the Labor day weekend.

Pirates Unable To Hit.
The Pirates, seemingly unable to hit at a most important turning point in the National League race, will enjoy no such enthusiastic support from their home fans as was accorded the Cardinals in the series just concluded. While baseball is played for money and not for glory, this sympathy of Pittsburgh fans towards their team's success, following the dismissal of Carey Adams and Bigbee, may have an important bearing on the outcome.

The tension under which the Cardinals and Pirates have been playing is illustrated by the fact that both teams made three errors in Wednesday's game.

With the Reds and Cubs idle, the only other National League game was between Boston and Philadelphia, featured by the brilliant pitching of 19-year-old newcomer to Fletcher's 1919, who beat the Pirates, 3 to 0, allowing but four hits.

Here's a Monster

What's the use of going to Canada during the summer to fish? "None at all," echoes J. P. Orme, of Atlanta, who, while fishing with W. B. Carleton at Lake Burton last Monday, landed in a bass that weighed 111.2 pounds. His catch is believed to be pretty close to a world's record weight for bass, and goes to prove that Atlanta's environs offer about as good fishing as anywhere.

The huge finny specimen is now being mounted and will be placed on exhibition in the sporting goods store of W. H. Perrin and company, where the mounting process is completed.

Young Stribling Will Be Referee In Preliminaries

Young Stribling, the famous light heavyweight, has consented to referee the preliminary matches Tuesday night, according to announcement. That means that he will render decisions in the Spike Webb-Sid Taylor and Benny Rouzin-Honey Boy Snipes bouts, both of ten rounds.

Presence of Young Stribling in a new role here should help considerably at the gate. While he has been seen time and again bedecked in his fight togs he has never condescended to act as third man in the ring, and Matchmaker Watson regards it as quite a feather in his cap that he was able to persuade the famous fighter to serve.

Cold Facts for Skeptics

The Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech may have lost the blasting force of a Wycoff and the stonewall resistance of a Godwin, but do not make the mistake of believing that the power of the Golden Whirlwind is broken.

If you are among the skeptics who believe that the loss of a few stars will send Tech to the bottom of the conference this year, we invite you to take a jaunt out to Tech flats and watch the football grist go through the mill of early practice.

We recommend a trip immediately, because after Coach Alec and his cohorts begin actual training there may be small room for spectators. But our invitation is urgent and earnest. Just go out and see the three score huskies go through their paces under the direction of Captain Men as they then come home and throw your pessimism in the discard. Sell your hammer and buy a horn.

All this does not mean that we are predicting a conference championship team for Tech before the Jackets have played a game or even started official practice, but it does mean that we firmly believe Tech will have as good a record on Thanksgiving day this year as they had on the same date yesterday.

Largely guesswork? Perhaps—but there are a few facts which stand irrefutable to make the guess more than a mere gesture. Tech will have the most evenly balanced team this year that has been seen for many a year on the flats. Their offensive will not be built around one man. There will be a chance in there for many letter men who were held back last season. Barrow, Murray and Brewer may, any of them, turn out to be of as great value to the team as Wycoff was as a ball carrier, and will constitute a triple threat, whereas the Wycoff plays were too numerous and Doug was too well marked by the opposition.

There is also a chance that the pony men, such as Sprick, Read, Connally, Holland and Horn, will be called upon more often with Wycoff out of the game. Perhaps there will be another reign of the pony men such as Tech saw when Brewster, Harris, Albright and Farnsworth were in power.

As for the line, the loss there should be easily filled with such letter men as Irwin Crowley and Marshall at ends; Hearn, Hood, Cooper and Tharpe at tackles; Martin, Angley and Williams at guards, to pivot about Captain Pool or John Murray in the center.

In addition to these probable first-string men, there are a host of reserve men, such as Williamson, Thrash, Diamond, Norfield and Harlow, for reserve line material.

With all this in mind it is well to remember that there will be a greater struggle for positions when the first-string list is not established before the season starts.

Do not make the mistake of counting Tech out of the race now.

REED SURVIVES FIRST ROUND OF MATCHPLAY

Qualifying rounds for the club championship of the Capital City Club will get under way Friday at Brookhaven, it was announced Wednesday night by Howard Beckett, professional of the club.

Two days will be devoted to qualifying rounds.

Reed, defending champion, won his match from J. T. Barnes, 2 and 1.

Tommy Shropshire, low medalist in the first day's play, had a tough battle with Charley Yates, ranked as one of the best players in the junior division. Shropshire took the match, 1 up in 19 holes. This is the second hard battle for Shropshire in as many days, he having been forced to play 36 holes in order to win the Bob Martin medalist trophy from Billy Youngblood.

Reed was backed in his battle Wednesday by all of his friends who constitute the caddy force at the Piedmont park links. Accordingly there was a serious shortage of caddies at the Piedmont Wednesday morning, and patrons of the municipal course were forced to carry their own bags.

Play in the second round will be held this morning.

Wednesday's results follow:
W. L. Reed defeated J. T. Barnes, 2 and 1.

Berrien Moore defeated Bobby Chambers, 2 and 1.

Mack Smith defeated T. R. Hayes, 6 and 5.

Billy Youngblood defeated Charles Edwards, 3 and 2.

John L. Sullivan defeated T. M. Owens, 8 and 7.

Will Gunn defeated R. Rickerson, 8 and 7.

Tommy Shropshire defeated Charley Yates, 1 up, 19 holes.

D. L. PEACOCK ENTERS PACER IN PARK RACE

Dr. D. L. Peacock, widely noted sportsman of Athens, Ga., Wednesday entered his famous pacer, Harvest Dew, in the Labor day horse races to be held at Lakewood amusement park Monday, September 6.

Dr. Peacock's entry was the second made since the lists opened earlier in the week for the Labor day sport events. W. P. Jenkins, the Opelika, Ala., horseman who was injured at Lakewood during the Fourth of July races, made the first entry Tuesday.

It will be the first time Mr. Jenkins has driven his swift pacer, Belle Dare, since he hurled him from the sulky in a battle to get back on the track after she had been nosed out of first place by her race July 3.

Entries for the Labor day races will remain open until 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, with George Haney, chairman of the amusements committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades Labor day committee, as official racing secretary for the day.

The horse race will be followed by a mule race, a burlesque on the speed event. Three past presidents of the Federation of Trades will drive in that event.

St. Joe Club Wants Games Transferred

F. B. Tracy, president of the St. Joseph club, is making his yearly effort to transfer the home games because of lack of attendance. Amarillo, Tex., will see some class A ball if all of the club owners consent to the move.

(Ying and all scores must be turned in to the officials of the tournament by Saturday night. Match play will start the following Monday.

Interest this year is much greater than ever before and the tournament promises to be one of the most successful ones ever to be held by the club.

Two days will be devoted to qualifying rounds.

Many Hard Battles Feature 3rd Round; Favorites Survive

Graves, Courts, Owens and Mooney Will Battle in Semi-Final Round For State Title—Both Grant Boys Are Put Out—Close Matches Predicted for Today.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

Malon Courts continued his brilliant playing which has been an outstanding feature of the week's play in the Georgia state tennis tournament at East Lake, and Wednesday won his way into the semi-finals by defeating Allen Ware, of Knoxville. Other favorites in the final round came through the men's singles without mishap, and two good matches will be played this afternoon.

John Temple Graves, II, playing a smooth, steady game, went into the semi-finals by winning from Berry Grant, Georgia Tech net star, in straight sets. Hop Owens had trouble in disposing of Bryan Grant, 16-year-old Atlanta boy, 9-7, 6-4. Jack Mooney stayed in the tournament by defeating John Allen, 6-3, 6-2.

Owens Beats Grant.
Bryan Grant, who surprised spectators Tuesday afternoon when he beat Kels Boland, 1926 tri-state champion, out of the tournament, staged a game fight against Hop Owens. Bryan Grant, young brother of Berry Grant, forced the first set to extra games, and came near taking it at one time, but the more experienced Owens staged a rally and took the first set, 9-7. In the second set, Grant weakened, but was still making a good fight and made several spectacular returns. Young Grant's game in the present tournament has shown that he will be a formidable foe for Atlanta's best stars within the next few years.

Malon Courts, another young player, who has caused the old heads quite some trouble in the tournament, played three matches Wednesday, winning all of them. His first victory came in the morning when he won from James Halverstadt, 6-1, 6-2. In the afternoon, he kept up his steady playing, and by frequent use of his backhand, which is improving in his game every day, he won from Allen Ware. Then, paired with John Temple Graves, he was victorious in a doubles match against Mansfield and Kennedy, 6-2, 6-0.

Featured by his stroking and steady playing, Graves disposed of Berry Grant in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. Grant started off the match by taking the first two games and throughout the set the lead seemed back and forth, with Graves finally winning out. Grant lost some of his speed in the second match, however, and Graves, playing his usual steady game rapidly took advantage of Grant and after some trouble from the Tech star, who put up a good fight, took the set and match.

The junior tournament has progressed to the semi-finals and this round will be played either late this afternoon or tomorrow night. Several doubles entries are behind in their matches, which causes the playing of numerous doubles matches this afternoon, and the junior tournament will most likely be held up.

Play was started Wednesday morning in the ladies' singles, only two matches in the first round being played. The remaining first round matches will be played this morning at 10 o'clock. Officials of the tournament announced Wednesday night that all entrants in the ladies' singles not present at the scheduled time this morning would be defaulted.

Wednesday's results follow:
MEN'S SINGLES.
Graves beat Grant, 6-4, 6-3.
Owens beat Grant, 9-7, 6-4.
Mooney beat Allen, 6-3, 6-2.
Courts beat Ware, 6-2, 6-3.

Men's Doubles.
Owens and Thornton beat Knox and Rice, 6-4, 6-4.
Graves and Courts beat Mansfield and Kennedy, 6-2, 6-0.
Simpson and Boland beat Whitehurst and Grant, 6-1, 6-1.
Grant and Grant beat Griffin and parties by default.

Consolation Singles.
Armstrong beat Reed, 7-5, 6-0.
Culham beat Cader, 6-2, 6-2.
Hunt beat Boland, 9-7, 8-6.
Hunter beat Chambers, 8-6, 6-3.
Harrison beat Rickenbacker, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.
Lewis beat Harrison, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Ladies' Singles.
Miss Meador beat Miss Tomblin, 6-1, 6-0.
Miss Griffin beat Miss Porter, 6-1, 6-0.
Miss Caldwell beat Miss Gude, 6-1, 6-0.

Junior Singles.
Courts beat J. Halverstadt, 6-1, 6-2.
Dreger beat A. Halverstadt, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.
Liddle beat Beaver, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.
Campbell beat Griffin, 6-1, 6-4.
Campbell beat Liddle, 6-4, 6-3.

Commerce Citizens Organize Club for Dr. L. G. Hardman

Commerce, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—The friends of Dr. L. G. Hardman, candidate for governor, from Commerce, have organized a Hardman Campaign club at this place. There are 371 names of citizens of Commerce and the Commerce district already on the list so far and new names are being added daily and his friends predict the list will soon number 1,000 names.

The Commerce Hardman campaign committee today issued the following statement in connection with its campaign:

"Dr. L. G. Hardman was born and reared at this place and has lived here all his life. He began his business career in Commerce when it was a village and his business ability is well recognized by the people of his native town, who have joined hands with business men and women throughout Georgia in their desire to see a business man put in charge of the governor's office.

"The people of Commerce know better than anyone else just what a splendid business man Dr. Hardman is and the success with which all of his business efforts have been crowned is evidence of the fact that he is undoubtedly one of the best business men in the state. A business man in whose hands the people of Georgia can safely place the business of the office of governor and divert it from a political machine to a business proposition.

"Dr. Hardman has a business record equaled by few and excelled by none. He employs a greater number of persons and pays them better wages than any man in Jackson county. He is also the largest individual landowner in north Georgia. In addition to the above he also has a large payroll of other employees, all of whom are happy and contented in his employ.

"The records will show that Dr. Hardman has never in all of his long business career been sued for the payment of any debt, his taxes have always been promptly paid and his name appears upon the voters' list as a registered and qualified voter of this county.

"Dr. Hardman is not only a splendid business man but best of all he is a consecrated Christian and a fine church worker. He has been a member of one of the Bible classes of the First Baptist church of Commerce for years and during all of this time he has never let politics interfere with his regular attendance upon Sunday school and church services."

HOLDER RECENT CONVERT.
STATES DR. L. G. HARDMAN.
Charlotte, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—Dr. L. G. Hardman, candidate for governor, spoke here Tuesday to a representative crowd of Habersham county citizens. He asked the voters to support him and allow him to give Georgia a business administration. He claims John Holder advocated a state bond issue from 1921 until about the middle of the extraordinary session of the legislature, when he changed his position and advocated the pay-as-you-go plan for building roads.

"RING RULE" FACT
HIT BY HARDMAN.
Buford, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—Speaking here tonight to a large crowd, Dr. L. G. Hardman, candidate for governor, urged voters of Gwinnett county to rip open the bag that the Brown-Holder machine claims to be sewed up and elect a business man for gov. Dr. Hardman said:

"It is admitted that the Brown machine has been smashed and along with it goes John Holder. Both have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money. The records show that there has been gross extravagance. I am not charging anything, for the record speaks for itself. Just read the audit made by Sam Slate, state auditor."

MACHINE POLITICS
HIT BY HARDMAN.
Winder, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—In an address to voters of Barrow county here this morning, Dr. L. G. Hardman, candidate for governor, coined a new phrase for the highway department when he stated it was suffering from "Political-machinism." The crowd in the courthouse gave vociferous applause when he said that the highway department had not kept faith with north Georgia.

"I brand the statement made in this campaign that I would reappoint John Holder as chairman of the state highway department as false. There is not a word of truth in this assertion. I have not made and will not make any political pledges or promises."

HARDMAN LEADS
SPEAKER ASSERTS.
Rocky Ford, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—Gordon W. Chambers, attorney, of Augusta, Ga., delivered a campaign speech here this afternoon for Dr. L. G. Hardman. Chambers stated:

"I have a telegram from Dr. L. G. Hardman in which he emphatically refutes the canard being circulated that he ever traded or even offered to trade with John Holder. He denies the fact that he agreed to reappoint Holder on the highway commission. Dr. Hardman has offered no man any appointment to any office, for he represents that type of man who places a public trust above that of personal gain."

Seven Brass Bands
To Make Labor Day
Fete Harmonious
Music from seven brass bands and a nine-piece orchestra will put pep and rhythm into the spectacular celebration of Labor day, next Monday, September 6, to be launched with a mammoth parade Monday morning and carried on through the afternoon and evening at Lakewood amusement park. The seven bands engaged for the day were announced Wednesday by Karl Kartson, music chairman for the Labor day committee of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. They will be the Royal Purple Elks band, William Ritter, manager; the Georgia Railway and Power company band, the Atlanta Drum corps, John T. Lee's band, John Scharf's band, Fred Weinmeyer's concert band, which will play two concerts during Monday afternoon at Lakewood, and the colored Masonic band.

PART AFTER 31 YEARS
Wife Nagged Continually,
Divorce Petition Says.

The first ten years are the hardest, after that you get used to it, according to a time old axiom.

But this was not the case in the trip on the good ship marriage taken by W. G. Swartz, and his wife, Mrs. Ida May Swartz, which began on November 5, 1885.

After sailing along smoothly in matrimonial waters for several years, a storm came up and the turbulent waves dashed the ship against the rocks. As the result, Mr. Swartz Wednesday filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Swartz, now a resident of Gainesville, Fla., in Fulton superior court.

The couple separated on October 15, 1924. The defendant continually nagged and harassed him and made abusive remarks concerning him in his presence and in the presence of others, he charges. His health was impaired due to her cruel treatment, the petition alleged.

The suit for divorce was filed by Len G. Guilbeau, attorney for the plaintiff, and was made returnable to the September term of Fulton superior court.

Perfumes Overcome Smoke-Eaters. New York.—A perfumery would see much to admire in the plight of seven firemen who were temporarily overcome by the fumes of burning flowers while an audience comprised largely of men and women in evening attire from nearby supper clubs watched. All the firemen recovered.

Principals in Drowning Tragedy

Miss Edna Thornton, 15, of 103 Alta avenue, was snatched from a watery grave Tuesday by Sidney Mason, 16, of 17 Ferguson street, center, who went to her rescue when she stepped into a hole while bathing in a creek above Thompson Mill road. At right is shown Charles Edwin Mason, Sidney's cousin, who was drowned in attempting to rescue the girl.

RIDDLE MUST PAY TAXES OF $1,200 ON FALSE TEETH

Atlantic City, N. J., September 1.—(P.)—William Riddle, former mayor and Atlantic City's largest individual taxpayer, was today ordered to pay taxes on an assessment of $1,200 for a set of platinum false teeth by a ruling of the Atlantic city board of taxation.

The former mayor was protesting against an assessment of $958,000 on board walk property when in the heat of the argument he removed the glittering molars.

"I move, Mr. President," said Walter McDevitt, an Atlantic City assessor, "that we assess the teeth at $1,200."

The question of jurisdiction arose as the former mayor is now a resident of Genoa City. The board adjourned to think it over and after a recess decided that Atlantic City was entitled to the assessment since the teeth had been found here.

WETS IN MISSOURI
WILL NOT SUPPORT
REFERENDUM PLAN

Washington, September 1.—(P.)—Missouri wets were urged today by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment to withhold their support in the November election from the referendum proposing repeal of all Missouri prohibition laws.

W. H. Slayton, head of the organization, in making this request, said the recent senatorial primaries had "turned" the wets and named two liberals. "Therefore, the holding of any further referendum in Missouri became unnecessary," he added.

He asked his audience to weigh his own record beside that of Mr. Holder. "Choose between them," he challenged. "Find one thing that Mr. Holder has done that was constructive. First he claimed that he ended the convict lease system—but we ran him back in his hole with the proof that he—of all the men in the general assembly at that time, 18 years ago—that he was the one man whom the leaders of that movement attacked without mercy as the real obstacle to their great purposes."

Mr. Carswell renewed his charge that the highway board has not 800

PEOPLE AROUSED, SAYS CARSWELL

Cairo, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—Renewing his attack on John N. Holder as "a machine politician" by his record to be considered for governor of Georgia, George H. Carswell declared here today that "the real issue in the governor's race is on the question of whether a man shall be permitted to waste public funds in order to make himself chief executive of the state."

"The people of Georgia are aroused to the seriousness of this issue," said he. "And they are determined to end once and forever the political regime which has reached its culmination in Mr. Holder's administration as chairman of the highway department. They have seen men appointed to political jobs which were not required by the public service but which drew their compensation from the taxes you and I have paid. And they have seen these men busy themselves as lobbyists, either in the field or in the halls of the general assembly, or as political campaigners in behalf of Mr. Holder."

He asked his audience to weigh his own record beside that of Mr. Holder. "Choose between them," he challenged. "Find one thing that Mr. Holder has done that was constructive. First he claimed that he ended the convict lease system—but we ran him back in his hole with the proof that he—of all the men in the general assembly at that time, 18 years ago—that he was the one man whom the leaders of that movement attacked without mercy as the real obstacle to their great purposes."

Mr. Carswell renewed his charge that the highway board has not 800 miles of state aid road remaining to be allotted, and that in representing the contrary and holding county hearings on the allocation of this "mythical mileage" Mr. Holder has been campaigning for himself at the state's expense.

Mr. Carswell declared the effort to make it appear that Mr. Holder is the anti-bond candidate and he is the pro-bonds candidate is in line with the machine methods of the opposition. "How ridiculous from the man who has wasted and squandered public money with both hands while engaged in building his political machine in the highway department! From the man who is negotiating right now a private little bond issue of considerably more than three-quarters of a million dollars in 'deferred payments'—as he calls them—on a few miles of the coastal highway down yonder near Brunswick! From the man who has directed the wasting of some $35,000,000 of public money and has only 500 miles of hard-surfaced highway to show for that sum!"

"From the man who has piously protested these recent months against bonding the state and yet has maneuvered some 35 counties into issuing $15,000,000 road bonds of their own that the state some day will have to redeem! From the man who did that in open violation of the plain letter of the law, which stipulates clearly that no county shall be required to contribute either money or work toward the cost of any state road!"

"The people of Georgia are aroused to the seriousness of this issue," said he. "And they are determined to end once and forever the political regime which has reached its culmination in Mr. Holder's administration as chairman of the highway department. They have seen men appointed to political jobs which were not required by the public service but which drew their compensation from the taxes you and I have paid. And they have seen these men busy themselves as lobbyists, either in the field or in the halls of the general assembly, or as political campaigners in behalf of Mr. Holder."

Tigers Are Sued For Half Million In Income Taxes

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, Ill., September 1.—Uncle Sam, in the person of Mrs. Mable G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue for this district, wants the modest sum of half a million dollars from Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, bootleggers deluxe, who have neglected to pay their income taxes on the profits they made in 1922, 1923 and 1924, from illicit booze deals.

From Druggan the government wants $312,082 and from Lake $204,760. Negotiations have been in progress for several months over these payments but have failed, and today the government brought suit to collect.

When the government sent the two to jail for contempt of court, they spent money so lavishly that they were able to go in and out of the jail will, and the scandal finally sent the sheriff and the chief jailer to prison.

"You Should Graduate From High School First"

Druggan's, a School of Real Service—Advises All Young People, If Possible, to Finish High School First—Bigger Salaries and Better Opportunities Offered.

"Finish High School Before Entering Business" is a slogan used by Druggan's Business College for several years and this school has perhaps been instrumental in inducing more young people to remain in high school till graduating than almost any other influence. Now on the eve of the beginning of the high school session Druggan's does not think it can render a greater service than to reiterate this established policy. This advice is based on the accumulated experience of forty years in preparing young men and young women for positions of responsibility.

It is a distinction and a joy to complete a high school course. It will give you a stronger mind, make richer character and you can see farther. Competition will be less, you can make more money, your leisure hours will be happier and you can select your life work more wisely.

A student who stops school with the sixth grade averages about $750.00 per year for life, and lives in a cheap house that sometimes leaks. The high school graduate averages from $1,500 to $2,000 per year for life, lives in a good house and his position is permanent. When a technical education is added to high school training, the income is much larger and the chances to rise to positions of trust and responsibility are much greater. Unless some one depends upon the labor of your hands for a living, do not stop short of graduation. You may need money for your own existence, but work before school hours, and after, borrow money or do any honorable thing to sustain yourself while you are finishing your course. Let no offer, whether it is a position paying you an attractive salary, or some private or public school offering an attractive course, deter you from the task you now have before you. Remember that high school training adds poise, dignity and confidence. Druggan's Business College, Atlanta, Georgia.—(adv.)

Ponce de Leon Baptist Members Will Honor New Minister

The members of the Ponce de Leon avenue Baptist church will entertain at an informal reception Friday evening, September 3, at 8 o'clock at Millard hall, which is located next door to the church. The occasion will honor and welcome the new pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Luther Rice Christie, and Mrs. Christie, formerly of Meridian, Miss.

Acting as hosts of the occasion will be the men's clubs and the women's societies of the church. George M. Brown, chairman of the board of deacons, will give the welcoming address in behalf of the church membership.

A delightful feature of the occasion will be the musical program rendered by the church choir, including Mrs. Louisa M. Allensworth, soprano; Mrs. James H. Whitten, contralto; H. R. Bates, bass; A. W. Browning, tenor; C. W. Diekmann. Members of the church are requested by the committee in charge to be present and extend a cordial welcome to the new minister and his wife.

Miss McCauley Is Hostess at Tea.

Among the lovely affairs of Wednesday's social calendar was the bridge-tena given by Miss Adair McCauley at her home on Gordon street, West End.

In a charming al fresco setting the tables were placed on the lawn at the rear of the home.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Caroline McCauley, young sister of the hostess, and assisting in entertaining were her mother, Mrs. P. D. McCauley, Mrs. Hugh Fuller and Mrs. McWhorter Miller.

McLendon W. C. T. U. Gives Program.

A fruit shower and literary program was given by the members of the Mary Latimer McLendon W. C. T. U. Tuesday afternoon at the home for incurables.

Mrs. E. C. Aycock and Mrs. Mary V. Lee led the devotional. Miss Lurline Threlkeld rendered several piano selections. Readings were given by Miss Elsie Mules, Miss Ingeborg Parks, Miss Marie Tyne and Woodrow Wilson. Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Earl Threlkeld, Mrs. F. O. Walsh.

Van Guard Class Is Entertained.

Mrs. F. M. Robinson was hostess to the Van Guard class of the Peachtree Christian Bible school Saturday afternoon at her beautiful country estate, Glen Echo.

More than 100 guests which included the wives and friends of the Van Guards enjoyed Mrs. Robinson's hospitality. The guests were received and registered at Pine Lodge, which is one of the attractive dwellings on the estate.

Just before dusk the clear tones of a farm bell assembled the guests to a chicken supper, which was served on the lawn surrounding Sunset cottage.

Mrs. H. F. West Is Luncheon Hostess.

Mrs. H. F. West was hostess at a beautifully appointed luncheon Wednesday at the Biltmore hotel, honoring Mrs. Clifford Carroll, who will leave soon to make her home in Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Robert Motley of Miami, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. O. Walsh.

Afternoon Tea Will Compliment Mrs. W. J. Wilson

One of the most interesting affairs of Friday will be a tea at which Mrs. William Lee Green will entertain at her home in the Pershing Point apartments on Peachtree street, complimenting her sister, Mrs. Walter Jack Wilson, who before her recent marriage was Miss Emily Lucile Elder.

Mrs. Green will be assisted in entertaining by Miss Leila Elder, Miss Mabel Elder, Miss Sara Bigham, Miss Catherine Norcross and Miss Virginia Turman.

West End Civic Club Hears Mr. Campbell.

At the regular meeting of the Civic club of West End Wednesday afternoon, which was presided over by Mrs. Edward Hardaway Smith, president, a musical program was rendered by Douglas Campbell. He was educated at the Academy for the Blind at Macon, Ga. Mr. Campbell's rendition of the classics, such as "Chopin's 'Polonaise in A and Nocturne,' 'Midsummer Night's Dream,' Mendelssohn's 'Nocturne' and 'Prelude,'

Mrs. R. Taylor Connolly, chairman of ways and means, has issued a call for a special meeting of all chairmen to be held at the clubhouse Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing plans for the year's work. All chairmen are urgently requested to attend this meeting.

A letter was read from Mrs. Jesse Manry, first vice president, who is spending the summer in Virginia, that she would arrive home in time to attend the first fall meeting of the club on Wednesday, September 8.

Flower Show At Woman's Club.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. Charles Goodman and Mrs. John Mount will act as judges at the flower show to be held by the garden division of the Atlanta Woman's club Friday morning, September 3, in the palm room of the clubhouse from 9 until 1 o'clock, with Mrs. Frank Fitten, acting as chairman and Mrs. Frank Matthews and Mrs. F. B. Naff, her efficient co-chairman.

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the Woman's club, cordially invites all those interested in flowers to visit this beautiful display. Mrs. Smith requests all members of the club who are entertaining at the regular tea Friday afternoon to purchase their flowers from this committee, the proceeds to be turned over to the club treasury.

Miss Magill Given Trousseau Tea.

Miss Sarah Magill, lovely bride-elect of September, was central figure at the trousseau tea at which Mrs. W. H. Magill and Miss Martha Magill were joint hostesses at their home on Juniper street Wednesday afternoon. Assisting in entertaining were Miss Leila Elder, Anne Moore, Joane Thompson, Mrs. R. A. Spiller, Mrs. F. A. Magill, Jr., and Mrs. William H. Magill. Fifty guests called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Carl Minor Is Honor Guest.

Miss Lottie Johnson was hostess at a luncheon Wednesday at the Atlanta Biltmore in honor of Mrs. Carl Minor, of Jacksonville, Fla.

School of Oratory To Give Program.

The program to be rendered Friday morning at 11 o'clock by the students of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, 402 Wesley Memorial church building, will consist of an impersonation of the dramatic religious scene "Trial of Faith," by J. C. Clark; a lyric reading by Mrs. Bessie Kunkle; an extemporaneous speech by R. C. Smith; Bible story by Mrs. J. D. Hemming; and readings by Miss Maude Paulk. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Reed Honors Miss Inez Francis.

Mrs. Clinton Reed was hostess at a bridge-tena Wednesday afternoon at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel in compliment to her guest, Miss Inez Francis, of New Orleans, La.

Bridge was played in a private dining room, after which tea was served. The guests included 16 intimate friends.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1924 by F. O. Beauty Features

Never Touch

Any but a true complexion soap to your face

Good complexion too priceless for experiment

THE only kind of soap to use on your face is a soap made especially for that purpose. Risking your complexion to an unproved soap is a folly.

Before Palmolive came, women were told "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty creation. A soap made by experts in beauty solely for ONE purpose: to safeguard the complexion. A soap made of rare cosmetic oils, to be used freely, washed on the skin. A soap, thus, that changed the beauty habits of the world.

Leading skin authorities urge it. Most of the pretty skins you see today are largely due to it. Launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care.

Start the day in the following way for one week... note the improvement in your skin.

The rule for gentle skin and pore cleansing

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain a cake today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

Miss Elizabeth Carroll Weds Mr. Austin at All Saints Church

The marriage of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Carroll to Loy Parker Austin was solemnized Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church, the Rev. C. B. Wilmer, performing the ceremony in the presence of a number of close friends and relatives.

Prior to the marriage service, a program of appropriate music was rendered.

Artistic decorations were used throughout the church, palms, ferns and foliage plants flanking the altar and chancel rail. Floor baskets overflowing with white roses and swans were placed at intervals, alternating with brass candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Lovely Bride.
The lovely bride wore a striking costume of chamois red crepe, fashioned along tailored lines. Her hat was a smart model of Austrian velvet to match her gown. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Carroll, who wore a gown of green crepe back satin trimmed in gold braiding with green hat of velvet. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and valley lilies. The groom had as his best man, William Ward.

Mrs. J. Clifford Carroll, mother of the bride, was given in a handsome costume of black satin combined with blue and gold and her hat was of black satin. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Robert Crumley, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of green georgette with black picture hat.

Mrs. Marion Hamilton, sister of the bride, wore a gown of violet colored georgette and a smart hat of black satin.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a motor journey after which they will be at home in the Greenlee apartments.

Prominent Families.
The young bride is the third of the attractive daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Carroll, through whom she claims descent from some of the south's most prominent persons.

Mrs. Carroll was before her marriage, Miss Lela Morris, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morris and granddaughter of Major and Mrs. Pullen.

Mrs. Robert Crumley is an only maternal aunt of the bride. On her father's side, the bride is directly descended from representative men and women whose names adorn social, cultural and historical annals of North Carolina. The beautiful Mrs. John Barris, of New Orleans, born Conklin Carroll, of Raleigh, N. C., is a sister of the father of the bride.

The bride was born while her parents made their home in Montclair, N. J., but has spent most of her life in Atlanta, to which her parents returned for residence some years ago. Her school days were spent at Washington seminary, where she was a popular member of the student body and of the Pi Pi sorority.

Mrs. Austin is a recent acquisition to business and social circles of Atlanta, is among the well-known young business men of south Georgia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Austin, of Stockbridge, and, like his bride, claims through his parents descent from distinguished lineage.

Miss Rabern Weds Carl V. Ferguson At Home Ceremony

Centering the interest of a large circle of friends in Atlanta and over the state was the marriage of Miss Annie Mae Rabern and Carl Vernon Ferguson which was beautifully solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rabern, on Grant street.

Rev. Robert H. Lamkin, a close friend of both families, was the officiating minister. The home was decorated with quantities of late summer flowers while the improvised altar was of ferns and handsome potted plants.

A musical program was rendered by Mrs. Robert Doland Kelley, who also played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." Before the ceremony, Miss Emily Lowe sang "At Dawning."

The bride entered the long living room with her maid of honor, Miss Laura Cruce, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, George Crowe.

The bride's dress was of navy blue georgette, with flesh-colored trimmings of the same material. Her hat was of black velvet with trimming to match that of her dress. She carried a bouquet of cream colored roses.

Miss Lowe was given in tan georgette. Mrs. Kelley's dress was of peach crepe and with this she wore a black velvet hat.

Mrs. W. H. Rabern wore a becoming gown of gray georgette. Mrs. C. V. Ferguson, the groom's mother, was gowned in black satin.

Mrs. Rabern was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Earl Robertson, Miss Jean Rabern, Miss Lowell Strickland and Miss Lee Bell Strickland. Mrs. Robertson's gown was of blue georgette with tan trimmings. Miss Jean Rabern wore rose taffeta. Miss Lowell Strickland's dress was of green crepe with self-trimming and Miss Lee Bell Strickland was becomingly gowned in pink georgette. An informal reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson after a short wedding trip will make their home with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Ferguson, in East Atlanta.

Hanahan-Middleton Wedding Brilliant Event in Charleston

Charleston, S. C., September 1.—(Special.)—The fall social season in Charleston was formally opened this afternoon with the wedding of Miss Frances Gaillard Hanahan, of Atlanta, and William Middleton, which took place at 6 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church, the Rev. William Wayne, D. D., rector, officiating.

The church was artistically decorated with masses of palms, relieved with white gladioli and tall lighted candles. Miss Virginia Douglas, organist of the church at the piano and C. Henry Anne, violinist, furnished an appropriate program of music before the ceremony and also rendered the wedding music.

The six groomsmen, P. G. Hanahan, Jr., of Atlanta; Ed Thurston, John Rivers, Robert Middleton, Montague Bell and Harold Dotterer, were followed by the bride's attendants who entered singly. First of the bride's maids to enter was Miss Annie Ford, groomed in orchid chiffon and carrying pink roses. She was followed by Miss Maude Bryant, of Atlanta, in blue chiffon and carrying pink roses. Miss Mary Middleton, of Atlanta, wearing green chiffon and carrying pink roses entered next and was followed by Miss Julia Middleton, sister of the groom, who wore yellow chiffon and carried pink roses.

Miss Sarah Hanahan, of Atlanta, maid of honor and sister of the bride, directly preceded the bride. She wore a gown of flesh colored chiffon, effect-tively embroidered and made with hoop skirt effect.

The attractive bride entered with her father, Pierre Gaillard Hanahan, of Atlanta, by whom she was given in marriage. Her lovely wedding gown was fashioned of white tulle and tulle, in old fashioned style, with tight basque and hoop skirt. The long full skirt was covered with flounces of tulle and the first flounce was carried with a ring of tulle roses. A court train of tulle fell from the shoulders and her veil was worn cap shape with orange blossom wreath and orange blossoms were scattered down its length. Her bouquet was a shower of brides' roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom with his best man, Charles Prioleau, entered from the vestry and met the party at the altar. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Middleton left for New York, where they will spend some time. Mrs. Middleton traveled in a smart costume of black satin with a black hat and accessories to harmonize with her dress. When they will leave their home here.

Miss Hanahan and her wedding party arrived here Sunday but due to the extreme illness of the bride's uncle, Joseph S. Hanahan, the entertainments planned were cancelled.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hanahan and Ingram Hall, of Boston, Ala., and Ed Merritt, of Atlanta.

SHORTRIDGE VICTORY PLEASES PRESIDENT

Paul Smiths, N. Y., September 1.—President Coolidge regards the apparent victory of Senator Shortridge of Virginia, who is seeking re-nomination, as highly favorable to the administration. It was said here Wednesday night, the president regards the indicated defeat of Judge Robert H. Clarke, as not only a reverse for Senator Hiram Johnson, but as a victory for the administration. It was an issue in the republican primary fight.

Coolidge believes that undue emphasis has been placed on the opposition to the world court in the current primary fights and recently indicated that he expected the senate to stand by its vote of adherence regardless of the defeat of several pro-senators in state primaries.

Shortridge has been one of the most loyal administration senators, voting with it on the seating of Truman H. Newberry and all other party questions. Senator Johnson was a desperate effort to unsettle him and apparently has lost, although early returns indicate that he put through his candidate for governor.

HOME OF CARDINAL ROBBED OF JEWELS

Philadelphia, Pa., September 1.—Two young men were arrested here late Wednesday in connection with the theft of $25,000 worth of jewels and securities Tuesday night from the safe in the home of Cardinal Dougherty. No one at the cardinal's residence knew of the robbery until informed by the police.

The men arrested are Lester Price, 21, who gave his address as New York city, and Mitchell Novack, 22, of Claridge, Pa.

Novack had consulted a lawyer as to probable purchaser for the bonds which Price had stolen.

The lawyer notified the police after querying a broker and learning the bonds belonged to the cardinal. Price is charged with unlawful entry and robbery. Novack is held for receiving stolen goods.

DEFENDS DIAMONDS

Statement Says Stones Cannot Be Changed.

New York, September 1.—(P)—The National Jewelers' Association today issued a statement today challenging the statement of Dr. C. Everett Field, director of the Radium Institute of New York, that yellow diamonds can be changed to blue-white stones by the use of radium. The association states that no laboratory experiment ever conducted has shown an appreciable effect on diamonds.

Dr. Field's announcement was based, he said, on recent experiments in which it was found that a $100 yellow diamond could be changed into what appeared to be a $700 blue-white stone by the use of $3,000 worth of radium.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN

If You Would Be Attractive You Must Be Healthy

A beautiful woman is always admired. There are many types of beauty. But no woman can be truly beautiful unless she is healthy. Radium vitality is always attractive. How ever plain a woman's features may be.

Many a woman has found her health improved through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Weakness, loss of weight, and a pale complexion were a few things of which Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Box 211, Tallahassee, Florida, complained before she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I could not even sit down and talk to a friend for any length of time," she states. "I would forget what I was talking about and felt so blue." Mrs. Taylor is so pleased with the work of the Vegetable Compound that she keeps a bottle of it in the house at all times—and when it is empty, her husband makes sure that she has a new bottle.

"I have regained my strength," Mrs. Taylor writes. "I can do all my housework now and I feel just fine."

NICARAGUAN REBELS DEFEATED IN BATTLE

Managua, Nicaragua, September 1.—(P)—Government troops have fought a battle with the revolutionary forces near Cosiguina, on the northwest coast bordering on the Gulf of Fonseca. The engagement lasted many hours and ended in the defeat of the revolutionists with large losses on both sides.

Government reports place the losses of the government troops at 60 killed and the revolutionists at 40, but no estimate has been given of the wounded.

The American gunboat Tulsa, at the request of President Chamorro, has proceeded from Corinto, a seven-hour run, to the scene of battle, to take the wounded back to Corinto, there being no facilities for their treatment at Cosiguina or its neighborhood, and neither force has adequate medical equipment.

In their retreat, it is reported, the revolutionists were cut off from their base of communications and the government troops captured a number of machine guns for their treatment of provisions and revolutionary documents.

General Samuel Sedales, General Julian Vinas and Colonel Torres, of the revolutionary forces, are reported by the government as having been killed. The government commander, Colonel Marcos Postolme, was made a general on the battlefield.

Frank Lowden Urges Price Stabilization For Farm Products

Syracuse, N. Y., September 1.—(P)—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, Sherman J. Lowell, member of the United States tariff commission, and Kent Cooper, general manager of The Associated Press, spoke before a gathering of 200 men prominent in agriculture, education, business and government, at the seventh annual farm dinner given tonight by J. D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard, E. R. Eastman, president of the New York State Agricultural society, was toastmaster.

"Some way must be found," Mr. Lowden asserted, "to stabilize the price of products of the farm."

The consumer, he said, derives no benefit from the extremely low prices at which agricultural products have at times been sold and "it is equally clear that distributors are able to prevent the wide fluctuations which bring distress to the farm."

He declared agriculture hereafter must be the chief concern of any nation which would flourish and endure.

Attorneys Pick Lakewood Park For Annual 'Cue

Members of the Atlanta Bar association Saturday afternoon will descend on a formidable array of savory pipes and lamb at the annual barbecue of the Lawyers' club, to be held at 1 o'clock, September 4, at Lakewood Mills, secretary of the Southeastern Fair association, arrangements have been made to hold the barbecue at Lakewood. While good weather is expected, no loss of pleasure is to be sustained in case of rain, in event of which the tables will be spread in one of the fair association's huge exposition buildings. One of Fulton's most expert "cue-masters" has been selected to take charge of the feast, it was said.

Members on the entertainment committee include Ernest C. Bell, chairman; John B. McCallum, Harry S. McCowan, Wallace W. Lyons and Clifford E. Thomas.

Bench and bar will fraternize for the last time this summer at the feast, staid judges from all the courts of the land, beginning with the supreme court of Georgia and running the gamut down to the justice of the peace who performs the fifth-day weddings in the Fulton courthouse, will appear minus ermine and wig and rub shoulders cheerfully with youthful barristers. It will be the last occasion of the kind this year because on Monday court resumes sessions and judges will be judges and lawyers lawyers.

The committee in charge has made all entertainment plans for the fair in strictly star chamber session and has made no effort to prevent a report of direct mystery gathering around the program of entertainment.

Reports that a marble shooting contest for attorneys and jurists over sixty years of age would be held with a filigree celluloid gavel at stake were neither confirmed nor denied by the committee Wednesday. The same tactiturnity was maintained in regard to rumors that a spectacle of mumblety-peg tournament would be held with a diamond studded moustache cup as the capital prize.

The only definite information concerning the events that had leaked out Wednesday was that the committee had unanimously rejected a proposal to offer a large cash prize to the attorney who attended with the largest number of wives, a proposal made in an effort to draw the largest possible attendance of ladies at the feast. A beauty contest, proposed with the same purpose, was also reported to have received a negative majority, as it was decided that it would be disrespectful to the judges present to have any non-jurists act as judges for —And so these silk dresses are vibrant with youth, and Mother will look young through the sprightliness of her daughter.

—The artist has sketched one of them, a lovely thing of exquisite crepe in blue, with a chiffon tie, caught in a knot. $25.

—Others and others—with blouse backs, Vionet sleeves, two pieces for classroom. Flat crepe, satin crepe and Canton crepe.

TYPHOID THREATENS HURRICANE VICTIMS

New Orleans, September 1.—(P)—Disease trailing in the wake of the tropical hurricane which swept in from the Gulf of Mexico last week, already has brought fever to more than three score storm victims, reports reaching New Orleans today said. Ten definite cases of typhoid at Montegut and nearly 50 cases of undetermined fever were reported by Father Joseph M. Coulombe, priest of the Sacred Heart church there, and Clarence Frasier, Indian guide, who came to New Orleans seeking aid for storm sufferers.

Father Coulombe said that 100 families in that district were cut off from their regular water supply and drinking water was carried in bottles across the marshes. He said the city was filled with the stench of fish killed by the storm.

Such water as is available for drinking purposes, the priest said, was swamp water and with the clogging of the bayous typhoid has broken out, and that food is so scarce that persons were forced to subsist on crabs and fish taken from polluted bayous.

SIX NEGROES BURN IN TENEMENT FIRE

New York, September 1.—(P)—Six negroes were burned to death and three others, two women and a child—were injured seriously in a fire that swept through a five-story tenement in St. Nicholas avenue early today.

Five of the bodies were recovered. Another body is known to be in the ruins.

The fire started on one of the lower floors and spread with such rapidity that when firemen arrived the building was a mass of flames.

No Finger Prints Found in Probe Of Choir Murder

Somerville, N. J., September 1.—Hope of the authorities investigating the Hall-Mills murder mystery that finger-prints upon the clothing of the slain couple might provide a clue to the slayers has been dashed by discovery that after four years the garments bear no tell-tale evidence.

Meanwhile, promising another arrest before the September grand jury meets to consider charges against Mrs. Hall, "Willie" Stevens and Henry de la Croyden, the prosecutor, Senator Simpson, has questioned Henry Stevens, a brother of the accused widow.

Mrs. Henry Stevens has issued a denial that she expected the senate to stand by its vote of adherence regardless of the defeat of several pro-senators in state primaries.

Stevens, a crack revolver shot, formerly committed at the Phillips farm, newly employed as a demonstrator by the Colt Arms company, produced four witnesses to testify that he was at Lavalette, N. J., on the night of September 11, 1922, when Dr. Hall and Mrs. Elsie Mills were killed.

LOUISVILLE TAX RATE IS REDUCED

Louisville, Ga., September 1.—(Special.)—Announcement is made by the city authorities of Louisville that the city tax rate for 1925 will be reduced two and one half mills on the dollar. This will be glad news for the taxpayers.

Practically every street in Louisville has been paved and perhaps no municipality in Georgia has more paved streets, based on population, than Louisville.

Even Now, People Are Buying for Christmas

CHRISTMAS with its joys and its demands for money is four months away—but a lot of fore-handed people are already selecting gifts of the more expensive kind and having us lay them aside until they are needed. Some of them are doing this just to be sure of getting what they want. Others are doing it so, by paying a part of the price each month, they will have them out of the way before the usual deluge of Christmas bills come in.

The Misty Pathway

By FLORENCE RIDDELL

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

VISITORS.

Somehow Richenda did not like the idea of Brett's going again into that same danger which they had faced the day before.

"Of course it is necessary," his tone was short. "One can't have a thing like that ready to rush out on every unsuspecting native that crosses its path. Surely your common sense could tell you that!"

So he had not yet forgiven her that unthinking shot which had spoiled his own aim.

"Don't you think you had better take the older boys with you?" she ventured. "It would perhaps—"

"I'm leaving them to look after you." His tone was final.

"But—but—it might be wiser for you to have them with you. I—"

"I could come as well if—"

"Thank you, I shall, no doubt, have quite enough to do without having you on my hands as well," he answered brusquely. "I need your word that you will not move from the camp till I return, that's all. You see, it wouldn't look well to have to tell the natives to follow your every movement and—"

"O, you are intolerable!" she burst in.

"Quite possibly," he returned. "Have I your word or must I remain here to let the results of your unthinking action bring a few murders in its train as well? Have I your word?"

She nodded her head in silent affirmation.

The day passed quickly. Richenda spent most of it in the seclusion of her tent. From near by came the clacking voices of Jerome and Macheria, the former, who, being a member of various mission schools, was tending towards an attack of mental indigestion by the rapidity with which he was learning to assimilate Christianity and education in over-large doses. Already, having taken unto himself the realization that "all men are brothers," he had begun to include socialistic doctrines of his own with regard to the white brethren whom, in his happier primitive state, he had looked upon as the superior race. Consequently Fairways' cigarettes and whisky were, though so far he had failed to notice it, beginning to disappear at an alarming rate.

"I've come neither to beg, borrow nor steal."

Jerome was chanting strangely from a shattered primer now while Macheria by his side laboriously sewed red, blue and yellow glass beads in a carefully arranged pattern on a piece of bark-cloth. As the sun grew stronger the shattered vernacular died away into silence, primer and bead embroidery slipped to the ground beside two recumbent forms whose bosoms rose and fell in comfortable slumber.

But Richenda did not indulge in her usual midday siesta. The warm-breezed air was heavy with the sleepy hum of insect life. A sapphire-winged butterfly, barred in jade shadows, flickered across her open doorway, then came a black fat-bodied bee droning about her ears and, across her sleeve, a vivid praying mantis made his supplication as he halted every now and then and brought himself upright on his hind legs.

No, she could not sleep. It was a most disturbing afternoon. She hoped he'd got that buffalo by now. After all, she admitted to herself, the affair had been entirely her fault. She should have known better. Not that, for all the gold in the world, should would ever admit this to Fairways. He was quite ready enough to condemn her as things were. She would not deliberately confess herself in the wrong. Nevertheless, even the best of hunters made slips. Suppose his slip came today. . . . She went suddenly cold as the thought came. That would be horrible, because—well, because, she told herself, she would naturally feel that the thing was, in a sense, her fault. Yes, of course, that was what made her feel so shivery. She hoped he'd come back soon in order that she might rid herself of this feeling of responsibility. She picked up a book, frowned down at the print that danced hazily to her eyes.

"Hod!"—the welcoming hail came suddenly to her through the quietness. She sprang to her feet in wonderment. Who on earth could it be? Not Fairways. This was some deep-voiced European sending the usual vernacular summons to announce his presence to the inmates of the camp.

The suddenly-awakened Jerome was by her now. "Bwana hai," he announced quite unnecessarily.

The man who came to meet her as she moved into the open smiled with cheerful friendliness. Tall, young, blue-eyed, fair of hair and skin, typically English in voice and manner, Richenda liked him at first sight.

"Why," he exclaimed, "I believe I've disturbed your siesta! I'm so sorry. But somehow I never expected to find a lady here!"

"Well," she smiled, "you have found one. But there's a man here as well, if that consoles you, or rather—there will be very shortly when my—my husband comes home. Meanwhile I shall be glad in his absence to do anything I can for you."

"O," he laughed, "I've come neither to beg, borrow nor steal. To be perfectly frank I just walked over to see what you were like."

"You see," he went on, "my pal and I pitched our camp this morning on the other side of that clump of trees over there"—he indicated a spot about a quarter of a mile away—"We'd no idea then that we had neighbors. But, now, round this afternoon, I suddenly spotted your tents, so I just blew along without further delay."

"Name: Reginald Anders. Profession: literature and art with aspirations towards the more solid calling of coffee farmer in company with my traveling companion, one Terence Holdingworth, as soon as we can find a place big enough to hold our ambitions and small enough to be procurable by means of the contents of our lean-sided purses. Now, in the words of Uncle Sam, 'I'm very pleased to have you know me.' It'll be 'us' soon for, if I mistake not, the worthy Holdingworth is close upon my heels!" He came to a breathless halt, the friendly smile still beaming upon her.

"Why, I'm pleased, too!" she cried. "It is nice of you to call so soon. Macheria!"—she called to the staring boy—"Bring chairs for the bwanas."

Holdingworth reached them five minutes later. An older, comfortably rotund man in this, more restraining than the voluble youth who had preceded him.

Richenda marshaled her unexpected guests to the three chairs which the native boy had set under the shade of a nearby tree on the spot where most of the meals of the encampment were taken. Here, a little later, appeared a well-laden tea tray over which she daintily presided. Then— as the blue haze of their cigarettes the three chatted comfortably.

To Richenda this unexpected visit made a charming change in the weary days which had been hers recently. These men brought a breath of the outside world to her. She could throw the restraining shackles from her tongue and talk free again. Her eyes danced with the pleasure of it, her cheeks grew pink, and again and again her litting laugh rang out at some quaint quip from Anders, who had a ready wit.

Presently the drone of Jerome came across from the leaf-walled shelter outside of which he was laboriously washing a couple of Fairways' shirts in a discarded kerosene tin.

BUILDING IN 1926 SHOWS BIG JUMP

While August building permits fell $18,222 below the figure for the same month of 1925, the grand total of permits issued thus far this year stood nearly $3,000,000 over those for the whole of 1925, and indications are that activity in the construction line will be renewed with great vigor within the next few weeks, it was announced Wednesday by A. C. McDaniel, assistant building inspector.

A total of 283 permits were issued during August, representing an outlay of $700,086 as compared with $778,808 for August, 1925. Homes were begun for 200 additional families last month, 108 being frame one-family structures, 18 frame duplexes and one brick dwelling.

Permits totaling approximately $13,000,000 already have been issued for the year thus far as against about $10,000,000 for 1925.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR M. A. NORRIS

Funeral services for Milton Andrew Norris, 56 years old, who died at the residence, 621 Highland avenue, early Wednesday morning, will be completed during today when out of town relatives have been heard from.

While Mr. Norris had been in ill health for several months, relatives did not believe the end to be so near. His death was discovered when he failed to respond to knocks on his door Wednesday morning.

Two sons, Alvin Norris, of Orlando, Fla., and Robert Norris, of Waycross, Ga., survive him. Also three sisters, Mrs. R. N. Lockhart, of Valdosta, Ga.; Misses Mamie and Ella Sue Norris, of Atlanta.

Awtry & Lowndes are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Chattanooga Clerk In Mail Service Transferred Here

Fred C. Taylor, former chief clerk of the railway mail service at Chattanooga, Tenn., has been transferred to Atlanta and will become superintendent of the fourth division railway mail service. Mr. Taylor assumed his new duties Wednesday September 1.

R. J. Harris, former superintendent of the fourth division railway mail service in Atlanta, was transferred to Chattanooga, Tenn., and will become chief clerk in the Tennessee office. Several other changes in the Atlanta office are expected in the near future, it was stated at the Atlanta office.

With the changing of officers in the fourth division, a change has been made in the mail service between Atlanta and Nashville, Tenn., and now the last link of the railway mail service between Miami, Fla., and the western states through Atlanta has been completed on the Dixie Limited. The mails on the route are in charge of the railway mail clerks.

SOUTHERN INSTALLS ANOTHER SERVICE

Telephone dispatching lines between Atlanta and Macon, 88 miles, were placed in service by the Southern Railway system Wednesday morning, completing the installation from Chattanooga to Macon, 240 miles, which was authorized early in the year as part of the program for improving the Southern's lines between Florida and the west.

With the Atlanta-Macon line in service, the Southern has a telephone system covering 2,000 miles of its principal lines.

A. G. Suttles, 56, of 89 Hill street, succumbed to an attack of apoplexy while in a store on Decatur street Wednesday afternoon.

He is reported to have been in ill health for some time but it was not thought his condition was dangerous. His body was removed to the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes and funeral arrangements will be announced today. Mr. Suttles is survived by his wife; a son, Holt Suttles; daughter, Maude Suttles; six brothers, D. K. J. N. T. A. E. M. and W. P. Suttles, all of Atlanta, and E. P. Suttles, of Miami, Fla., and three sisters, Mrs. W. W. Clark, Mrs. J. N. Willingham and Mrs. J. W. Burks, of Forrest Park, Ga.

Funeral services for Mr. Suttles will be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning from the Bethel church in Henry county. Interment will be in the churchyard. Awtry & Lowndes in charge.

FAIR, HOT WEATHER WILL CONTINUE, SAYS FORECASTER

Continued fair and hot weather for Atlanta is predicted for today by C. P. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Temperatures will be practically the same as Wednesday, he stated. Temperatures Wednesday ranged from 82 as the low mark to 89 during the early afternoon.

FOREIGN CHAMBERS WIFE OF WRIGHT ORDERED BY TURKS TO CHANGE NAMES

Constantinople, September 1.—(AP) Foreign chambers of commerce here have been informed officially by the department of commerce that they must change their names to "club" or "association" and conform to the law governing associations if they wish to continue activities.

It is understood that the organizations are united in opposition to the order, contending that their names have become of international usage.

As soon as she left this Mrs. Wright said she would start work immediately on a plan to occupy the "love nest" estate from which she has been barred by servants.

LAND'S FRIENDS SURE OF HIS REELECTION

Fort E. Land, candidate for reelection as state superintendent of schools, expects to carry 121 counties against his opponent, N. R. Ballard, it was announced by his campaign committee Wednesday.

This is the first election system made by the committee and is as follows:

"Mr. Land expects to be elected by an even greater majority than he received two years ago. Mr. Land carried 107 of 122 counties in the last election and expects to carry at least 121 counties on September 8. He has personally visited many of the counties and has received assurances from most of the other counties. Letters have been pouring in from people of all walks of life from every section of the state pledging their active support.

"The most important of these is the Georgia Education association, the Georgia County Teachers' association, the Georgia County School Officials' association, the Georgia State Teachers' association, the Georgia Federation of Labor, numerous county boards of education, the most recent of which is the Washington county board, and the editorial endorsement of approximately 50 Georgia newspapers. All these point to an overwhelming majority for Mr. Land. He receives letters daily congratulating him upon his ability to work with the legislature harmoniously as is evidenced by the large number of important educational laws passed during his administration.

"The equalization law which authorizes the legislature to provide an equalization fund to help the poorer counties provide better trained teachers and longer terms."

Automobile Sales In Georgia During August Top Records

Citizens of Fulton county bought more automobiles in the month of August than in any previous month in the history of the state and the citizens of Georgia have bought more automobiles during the first eight months of this year than during all last year, according to figures made public Wednesday by the state motor vehicle department in the office of Secretary of State S. G. McDaniel.

During August license tags were issued by the department for 337 new automobiles, according to Charles A. Cook, cashier of the department. This is the largest number of tags issued for new automobiles during any one month in the history of the department, the next largest being 612 new cars in one month.

Revenues of the department for the first eight months of this year amount to $2,268,131.83 as compared to $2,010,881 for the whole year in 1925. The number of passenger cars registered in the first eight months of 1926 is 226,728 as compared to 200,996 for the corresponding period of 1925. There have been 33,127 trucks registered during this period as compared to 27,700 for the same period last year.

MOIRE PROMINENT IN MODE. Moire has suddenly become an important material in the making of the most recent fashions. It is being used by many of the large houses, among them, Proment, Douillard, Cheruit, Worth, Bonnet and Taton.

It is being employed for coats and skirts, afternoon dresses, day coats and evening dresses. Moires with faint designs are taking the place of the ordinary marked moire used a few seasons ago. The designs are mostly small ovals or circular designs and squares and diamond shapes.

These moire silks are made into strictly tailored garments, straight coats and skirts with pleats front and back. Straight coats of moire are worn over light crepe de chine dresses.

R. F. D. IS CALLED "INDISPENSABLE" BY CHIEF OF MAIL

Philadelphia, September 1.—(AP)—The rural free delivery postal service was characterized today by Postmaster General New as "one of the most indispensable features of American social and economic life." The postmaster general addressed the annual convention of the National Rural Letter Carriers' association.

"Nowhere can the service be curtailed," said Mr. New. "It carries mail to and from more than 30,000,000 persons residing in the rural districts of the United States."

In 1897 there were only 1,843 miles of rural delivery routes in the United States, he said, while today the service moves over 1,250,000 miles daily. The cost of R. F. D. service also has increased from $14,840 per year 30 years ago to $104,000,000 annually. The average cost per carrier last year was $2,304 and the average salary of the carriers was $1,877.40.

BUSINESS 'SLUMP' NOT FELT LOCALLY

The midsummer business "slump" which has come to be expected as inevitable all over the country, did not occur in Atlanta this year, according to H. C. Williams, president of the Mortgage Guaranty Company of America.

Moreover, Atlantans are able and are paying their obligations promptly, indicating sound underlying business conditions, he said.

"With over four million dollars in outstanding mortgages, less than $2,000 of past due interest appears on our books. How about that as a sign of prevailing prosperity in this community?" was Mr. Williams' comment.

"It has been the custom among business people for many years to regard the beginning of September in the same jubilant spirit, commercially speaking, as the festive holiday throngs regard the advent of the new year."

In commenting on this, Mr. Williams stated that one of the reasons was probably the fact that in business circles the summer season is ordinarily looked upon as a dull time, while September is hailed as marking the end of the summer slump.

"The curious thing about it," he said, "is that here in Atlanta we have experienced no cessation or slackening of activity during the summer, and as evidence of this he pointed to the fact that his company had loaned over a million dollars on Atlanta homes during the past three months. Most of these loans are on new structures occupied by the owners, citizens of this city, many of them newcomers, he said, and this was cited as an indication of the faith in Atlanta manifested by these people who had made substantial investments in local real estate."

See Period of Progress.

Mr. Williams also asserted that these loans, handled by this local company with Atlanta funds represented by its capital, have been disposed of to investors all over the continent, and the faith in the future of Atlanta real estate has thus marked throughout the United States.

Commenting on the business situation in this city, Mr. Williams said that the Mortgage Guaranty company regards the outlook for the coming months as the beginning of the brightest era in the history of Atlanta and that the company's organization is expanding its lending operations very considerably to keep step with the needs of the immediate future.

Return To Old-Time Dances

"CHARLESTON NOT DYING—JUST DEAD"

Seen at Masters Convention

Whither are we dancing and after the Charleston, then what? Burning questions these, but they are answered.

"More waltzes, slower fox trots and a return to the old-fashioned dances—the Laurers, Sicilian circle, polka, schottische, gavotte, et al."

The answers are furnished by Edward S. Hurst, principal of the Hurst Dancing school, of this city, who returned Monday from the greatest convention of dancing masters ever held in this country, which resulted in the consolidation of the American National Association of Dancing Principals and the International Association of Masters of Dancing, to be called the Dancing Masters of America, Inc. It simplifies things, at least.

"And the Charleston, Mr. Hurst, what about that?"

"Dead," he answered, without showing signs of overwhelming grief. "Not dying, but dead."

The alleged dance was not even brought up for discussion at the meeting of more than 700 dancing masters, who were gathered in the city of New Orleans.

Mr. Hurst says the Charleston was never quite as popular as people made out it was, and that it died a more sudden death than any of its predecessors. That's justice.

"Reports of teachers from coast to coast," said Mr. Hurst, "show demands for more waltzes and slower fox trots and a return to many of the old-fashioned dances."

"The waltz is the alphabet of all ballroom dancing. Many do not like it, but that is because they do not know it. We are endeavoring to convince the public as well as educational bodies of the superiority of the waltz in trying to segregate stage dancing from ballroom dancing. We are going to ask for the support of all educational bodies, teachers and parent-teacher association in the furtherance of this work to lift the standard of social dancing."

Such atrocities as the Charleston were never intended for the ballroom floor, Mr. Hurst says. And the ordinary run of fox trots, tripped by the college set, are all wrong, hard on the joints and ugly, he contends.

along with some several thousand other dancing masters.

The fox trot now in use is nothing more than a fox trot done to the regulation army time—40 measures to the minute. That's too fast. The correct time is 48 measures to the minute. The majority of orchestras, playing for the majority of dances, are largely responsible for they set the time. The fox trot, originally a more or less graceful sort of dance, has been changed into an awkward and rather ungraceful walk. It has grown monotonous, and the hue and cry is for a change. The change will be slower for fox trotting, more waltzing and relief through reintroduction of the dances of the past generation.

To that element of the populace which dances the most today—say between the ages of 14 and 25—there will be innovations, things brand new, smacking of a sports proposition and a lot of fun. The dancing masters have found that whenever an "old-fashioned" night has been staged the result has been a great success.

"A great and nationwide demand for these dances necessitated an introduction of new steps at the convention," Mr. Hurst said. "With slower fox trots, the dancing public will be busy learning proper steps to fit the music, which heretofore has been played so fast that all one could possibly do was push the lady around backward—just walking."

DRY AGENTS SEIZE CARGO OF LIQUOR

VALUED AT $18,000

New Orleans, September 1.—(AP)—Approximately $18,000 worth of liquor was confiscated by coast guards today after it was found necessary to use firearms to halt the motor launch Buffalo in the Gulf of Mexico off Pass a L'Ouvre, La. The 552-ton schooner Chiquita, formerly called the Aspox, was seized without a fight. Several arrests were made.

FORCED TO SHOOT PAIR, NEGRO SAYS

Macon, Ga., September 1.—(AP)—Ed Glover, negro, under death sentence for the murder of Miss Hilda Smith and E. W. Wilson, July 10, on the witness stand tonight in the trial of Bars Davis, indicted in connection with the same double murder, testified that Davis held a pistol on him and forced him to kill Miss Smith and Wilson.

Glover was taken from the county jail at 3 o'clock this afternoon as a witness for the state. His testimony was considerably different than given by him at his own trial, in that he attempted to put the entire blame on Davis.

Glover turned out to be the principal witness for the state in the prosecution of Davis. It was the first time that the negro had been on oath, not finishing his case tonight.

"I had to shoot," the negro testified. "I didn't want to shoot Mr. Wilson, 'cause he hadn't done nothing to me, but Mr. Davis made me do it."

Following the cross-examination of the negro court recessed until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, the state not finishing its case tonight.

During the cross examination of the negro by counsel for the defense, the lawyers were often interrupted by this statement from Glover:

"Boss, I wouldn't sit here and swear to a lie on anybody 'cause my time ain't long 'gon' to tell you the truth, 'cause you gonna live and I 'gon' die."

The negro declared that he never intended to kill Miss Smith.

"When I shot the first time, Wilson jumped out of the car and jumped back in again," said the negro. "Davis told me to shoot him again. I shot him the second time, and fired a second time at Wilson, but Miss Smith had thrown her hands around Mr. Wilson's head and part of the charge struck her."

The negro declared that Davis aided in the removal of the bodies from the scene, stating that while he took the body of Wilson from the car, Davis lifted the body of Miss Smith out. Both promised not to say anything, he stated.

Mrs. Lizzie Smith, a witness at the morning session, testified that on Sunday morning, the day following the double murder, she was a member of a party of young people that visited the Davis home in quest of whisky.

"Bars Davis after getting the whisky," she said, "stood there and talked. He said something must have happened down the road. We were only a short distance away from the scene of the murder. I asked him 'why' he said 'because the men must have been dragged across the road.' He then told us about the car being down behind the hill and said that it had been there all night. He said there was 'something's brains on the running board.'"

It was Monday night at sundown when the sheriff's office was informed of the discovery of the bodies.

For two days and a night the frightened population have been living out of doors, and rain which began this morning is adding to their misery. Few habitable houses are left standing.

Martial law has been proclaimed and the civil and military authorities are working hand-in-hand to alleviate suffering.

Things Come to Those Who Stop Waiting and Go After Them

That old saying about things coming to those who wait needs revising to be up-to-date. If you want anything now you'd better go out and get it.

And that applies to bargains in the articles you need or want, just as it does to a lot of other things in this life.

Here's your copy of The Constitution, bringing you the choicest offerings of the merchants of Atlanta; among them you will find some special bargains.

But don't forget that while you are reading these advertisements they are being read in more than 32,000 homes in Atlanta and suburbs. When you see something you want, specially priced for the day, go right after it.

ARMY AIR ACE DIES AS RESULT OF CRASH

Washington, September 1.—(AP)—The Army lost one of its crack aviators today when Lieutenant Cyrus K. Betts, 30, died as a result of injuries received last week in an airplane crash. Meningitis which developed yesterday prevented his recovery.

The accident in which Betts, winner of the Pulitzer trophy high speed race last year, was injured occurred August 25 when he was on his way from Philadelphia to Springfield, Ohio in a biplane. While in a fog, his plane crashed into a mountain near Bellefonte, Pa.

In addition to forty-three hours, during which he crawled six miles to a road, he was later brought by airplane ambulance to Walter Reed hospital here. Although known to be suffering from a broken leg and fractures of both jaws he was believed to be on the way to recovery until complications set in yesterday.

In addition to outdistancing Lieutenant Al Williams, speed king of the navy, in the Pulitzer competition last October, Betts won the John L. Mitchell trophy at Dayton, Ohio in 1924 and was joint holder of the Clarence Mackay trophy for the most meritorious flight last year. He became an army aviator during the war. He was born in 1893 at Carsonville, Mich.
